BIG KAVANAUGH PLANT TO OPEN

Open House Thursday Night At P. A. Grain Co.

13 YEARS' GROWTH

Commodious Storage Plant Marks New Epoch

Achievements in the last several years in which a business has grown from a one-room, shack-like structure handling quantities of hay, grain and flour, into a modern business establishment covering nearly half a city square and distributing for manifold commodities accessory to the grain trade and with modern refrigerating and cold storage plants, will be vividly put before the public of Port Arthur in an open house reception given Thursday evening by the Port Arthur Grain company in its new home, 601 Houston avenue.

A Modern Plant

Invitations have gone out to the many customers and friends of the company who are expected to be on hand at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow ready to participate in an occasion which marks rapid progress in the commercial world of the city.

Walter Kavanaugh, vice president and general manager of the grain company, and a corps of officials will extend the welcome hand after which a spread has been prepared for the guests, who have been invited to inspect the new quarters and facilities at the new location.

"We have realized some time the need in Port Arthur for just the facilities we have now supplied," Mr. Kavanaugh stated today. "We have spared no effort to make available for this city one of the most modern produce departments and houses to be found anywhere."

"The latest machinery" equipment has been installed in our effort to make it possible for Port Arthur to become independent of outside cities for its vegetable and fruit supply.

"After tomorrow, the entire plant will be open to inspection of the public and we will be pleased to conduct inspection tours throughout at any time."

Refreshments, too

Invitations sent out by the company for the "open house" event tomorrow night carried instructions to "pass up dinner at home" to partake of the "eat" to be handed out during the evening. The refreshments will be (Turn to Page 6 Column 1)

U. S. RESERVISTS RETAIN GRADES

Ex-Officers Have Chance to Be Slated Berths

Appointment of U. S. army officers, serving during the war period between April 5, 1917, and June 30, 1919, to berths in the reserve corps with highest grades held during services will be made from now until November 11, 1923.

This is the word received today by J. L. Dunn, official in the American Legion post here, from W. A. McCathran, adjutant in the Eighth Corps area, with headquarters in San Antonio.

"Present regulations provide that until November 11, 1923, persons who served as officers in the United States army at any time between April 5, 1917, and June 30, 1919, may be appointed in the officers' reserve corps in the highest grade held in the army, upon examination of the applicant's military record and a physical examination," the communication sets forth.

It is requested that any former officer not now a member of the reserve corps desiring this appointment send his application to the headquarters of Non-Division Group, Organized Reserves, Eighth Corps Area, at San Antonio.

Sailor Freed of Killing

Rabbi Again Arrested

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Despite the failure of the San Francisco county grand jury to return an indictment against him, Gladwell G. Richardson, aged 19, a sailor, has been ordered held to face charges in superior court.

Richardson is accused of killing Rabbi Alfred Laffie in a downtown hotel here the night of April 3 last. He comes from Oklahoma.

AMUNDSEN PREPARES

NORTH POLE FLIGHT

NOME, Alaska, May 16.—Captain Roald Amundsen, Arctic explorer who has signified his intention of flying over the north pole June 20 or 21, left Kotzebue April 28 for Wainwright, according to a radio message received here.

Captain Amundsen plans to land on Spitzbergen Island late in May.

ABSENTEES VOTE EXPIRES MAY 18

Until Then Ballots in Run-off Can Be Polled

Friday, May 18, has been set as the final opportunity for Port Arthurians to vote under the absentee riding, it was announced at the city hall this morning.

All persons leaving the city who wish to cast ballots in the May 22 election must appear at the city hall Friday under the riding. City Secretary E. H. Miles said, Friday is the last date; any ballot can be polled between now and Friday by persons leaving Port Arthur.

"If there are persons who, under extreme circumstances, will be unable to return to the city during Friday, or who will be unable to get to the city hall during the daylight hours, who want to cast votes in the election, I will be glad to come down to the city hall after dark and open up, permitting them to vote," Mr. Miles said this morning, intimating, however, that this would be done only in the instances surrounded by circumstances as indicated above.

Miles' residence is at 427 New Orleans.

The run-off primary will be held on Tuesday, May 22.

Jazz Orchestra and Harmonizers Added To Legion Program

Musie by a jazz orchestra and Harmony Club, and an address by Abe Goldberg, former president of the Port Arthur Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, are added features announced for the meeting of the Rudolph Lambert post, American Legion, tonight at 7:30 at their club rooms on Lake Shore Drive, officials in the post said today.

Other matters slated for the meeting of Legionnaires, tonight, include plans for the community observance of Memorial Day in Port Arthur, May 30, and plans for providing more commodious club house facilities, officials said.

SLAYERS OF SIX ITALIANS TO DIE

Three Others to Be Tried Later in Month

LAREDO, Texas, May 16.—Juan and Luliano Lozano, brothers, two of five members of the Lozano family charged with killing six Italians near Columbia, Mexico, on the night of May 5 will be executed at daybreak Friday, according to reports here today.

The executions will take place at either Villadama or Columbia.

The other three members of the family, including the father, will be tried later this month, it was learned.

The five men were marched into Laredo last night under heavy guard and a cordon of soldiers placed about the jail where the three men, who have not yet been condemned will remain pending further action.

Sour Lake Man Asks $30,150 Damages as Result of Auto Crash

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 16.—J. R. Blanchard, ex of Sour Lake filed suit in the 58th district court today against J. George Ruetter of Galveston county for damages in the sum of $30,150, as the result of an automobile accident, which occurred on the Houston road April 21.

Of the sum sued for, $25,000 is asked for injuries to the plaintiff's wife's health, $5,000 for the loss of her earning capacity and $150 for the damage alleged to have been done his automobile.

SANTA FE ENTRY HERE IS REVIVED

Official Party Looks Over Fast Growing City

PETTIBONE IMPRESSED

Action May Follow Settlement of Dock Case

Possibilities of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe railway system some day reaching into Port Arthur from the interior of the state were revived here yesterday when a party of Santa Fe officials, including Vice President F. G. Pettibone, spent the day here inspecting the city.

The officials arrived here just before the noon hour, and occupied the greater portion of the afternoon hours inspecting the entire city, including a trip over the Texas Company and Gulf Refining company plants. They left Port Arthur at 5 o'clock.

The official party

F. G. Pettibone, vice president and general manager of the railroad of Galveston, Texas.

J. P. Cowley, assistant to the general manager of the Santa Fe, Galveston.

J. L. Starkie, office engineer, headquarters in Galveston.

J. A. Glenn, superintendent of the Beaumont division of the G. C. & S. F., and the A. T. & S. F. lines.

The officials visited all sections of the city during their stay, and Vice President Pettibone, who had not been in Port Arthur in some years, expressed himself as being very favorably impressed with the decided growth and stride for advancement the port has enjoyed.

Interested in Port Arthur

Although none of the official party expressed himself relative to the possibility of the Santa Fe extending its system to include Port Arthur, it is a known fact that for several years past the Santa Fe has looked with interested eyes upon Port Arthur, and it is believed in business circles here (Turn to Page 2 Column 2)

CHILD KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTO

Bernice Alexander, 10, Seriously Hurt, Report

Knocked down by an automobile and rendered unconscious Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock on Vicksburg avenue at Eighth street, Bernice Alexander, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Alexander, 1810 Seventh street, sustained severe and probably serious injuries on her head and body, authorities at Mary Gates hospital reported today.

L. E. Ellender, 1825 Tenth street, reported the accident to police, and told them he was driving the car which struck the little girl, police said.

The injured girl is suffering from injuries to her head, and numbers of cuts and bruises about her head, face and body, it is reported at the hospital. She cannot remember anything about the accident, or how she was hurt, officials at the hospital said.

KUK'S BODY TO BE SHIPPED TO OREGON

The body of Harold Kuk, 22, who died Monday afternoon in Mary Gates hospital, will be shipped out of Beaumont tonight under the direction of J. E. Grammer, undertaker, for Oregon, the young man's former home, where burial will be made. Arrangements for sending the body back to Kuk's father, who came to Port Arthur in response to a message sent when his son suffered a heart stroke last Thursday while at work in the bolt shop at the Gulf refinery.

ETEC TO START NEW BUS LINE

Port Neches to Nederland Service Announced Soon

Another bus line into Port Neches looks for the very near future.

This new service will be established between Port Neches and Nederland, by the Eastern Texas Electric company as soon as the concrete road connecting the two places is completed, the company announced today.

"First class buses will be furnished, and regular schedules maintained, giving citizens in Port Neches and Nederland comfortable transportation between these communities," the company's announcement set forth.

It is further planned by the Eastern Texas Electric to have the bus line connect with each north and south-bound interurban cars at Nederland, company officials said.

French Girl, Love Unrequited By Gothamite, Dies in Sea

Pen Keeper Who Used Convicts on Wine Press Is Fired From His Job

TRENTON, N. J., May 16.—Suspending a keeper of the state prison, the head of the penitentiary charged that the former ran a wine press in the prison and for prisoners to work on repairs for the same.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The pounding waves of the ocean rolling relentlessly forward upon the sands only to retreat again with untold tales of sorrow locked in their depth, had left in their wake today a story of unrequited love which spelled death to pretty Marie Keith.

Marie Keith was French. In Paris she met an American—H. Starr Giddings, of a downtown law firm. She followed him to this country.

Three weeks ago Giddings was married. Tuesday the waves gave up the body of Marie Keith, and the waters into which she had thrown herself carried back upon the sands bits of letters which Marie Keith had torn before going to her death. These bits of paper, pieced together, resulted in revealing the girl's identity, and also brought Giddings forward to explain the tragedy.

Giddings said he met the girl, then 17, in Paris while there on a business trip in 1920. She spoke five languages and was a musician. Giddings said he felt only a friendly interest in Marie, but a year and a half ago she came to this country with her sister and immediately looked Giddings up. Giddings introduced her to his father and mother.

For a time, Giddings said, he considered marrying Marie but decided that when she returned to France, he would be unable to follow her. He urged Marie to return also. But she remained and obtained employment as a governess. From her savings Giddings purchased a bond for her. He said he told the girl he did not love her and that he was engaged to another. Then came an accidental meeting on the street when Giddings was accompanied by his fiancée, Marie walked away in tears.

Tell-tale bits of paper, swirling in the receding tide near Long Beach wrote the next chapter of the story. Marie's ashes will be sent to her sister in France.

Indications are that we'll have plenty of work waiting for the insurance men," Mr. Gertrude Thompson, executive secretary, said today. "Numbers of calls and inquiries regarding the reinstatement work have come into the hut, and others are expected," she said.

"The urgent need of sending insurance experts to Port Arthur to meet the demand here is felt by the veterans' bureau headquarters, according to letters I have gotten from them, and they are co-operating to the fullest possible extent to meet the local situation," Miss Thompson said.

With letters dispatched to numbers of ex-service men in Port Arthur, bulletins posted at the refineries here, and other steps taken to line up ex-service men in the city desiring to re-instate their government insurance while insurance experts from Houston are at the Red Cross hut, Fifth and Dallas, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Red Cross officials today announced "ready" for the reinstatement work.

C. R. Sherry and R. R. Landrum are the bureau experts coming to Port Arthur to assist ex-service men to renew their war risk insurance, and both will be available at the Red Cross hut for the next three days and evenings, officials said. Conferences can be arranged by calling at the Red Cross hut.

"The urgent need of sending insurance experts to Port Arthur to meet the demand here is felt by the veterans' bureau headquarters, according to letters I have gotten from them, and they are co-operating to the fullest possible extent to meet the local situation," Miss Thompson said.

With jurisdiction equal to that of the county court of law, at Beaumont, having the power to assess jail sentences and heavier fines than are possible in recorder's court, the appeals cases will go direct to the court of criminal appeals instead of to the county court of law, as is now the case, it is pointed out.

Defendants desiring to take appeals will have to provide their own stenographer to take down the court proceedings, no provision having been made in the court bill for a court stenographer, Wistner said. Appeals from the new court can be taken only in cases where the fine is $25 or more, he said.

AUSTIN, May 16.—It is practically assured Governor Neff will veto the educational edomonymy, the two schools, and the claims and accounts general deficiency bills. This fact became known this morning following a conference between the governor and members of the senate and house.

In making this declaration to the legislature the governor stated that the nearly $7,000,000 more was ever appropriated before and at the same time practically that much more there would be money to take care of these appropriations.

It is quite unlikely that the departmental and judiciary bills will be vetoed as no changes can be made in them that will offset any considerable amounts of appropriations for other purposes.

Members of the appropriations committee of both houses assert they can appreciate the governor's position and would not blame him for vetoing the bills named.

In order to make a graduated reduction in the appropriation bills, practically all of them will have to be vetoed.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 16.—Kansas will show no sympathy to the "Wobblies" who invade the state seeking to interfere with wheat harvest and other industries, Attorney General Griffith has informed Harry Feinberg, Chicago, secretary of the general defense committee of the I. W. W.

The attorney general's statement was transmitted to the I. W. W. leader in response to a form letter broadcasted from defense headquarters urging citizens to protest against the arrest and prosecution of I. W. W. members.

"The state will enforce its vagrancy and anti-syndicalism laws to the letter," Griffith told the I. W. W. secretary.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL BOYS TO HOLD AQUATIC FEST

A public swimming exhibition by the boys of the Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grades at Franklin school will be held Friday night at 7:30 in the Franklin pool, Lynden Sherrill, swimming instructor, announced today. The boys will demonstrate various swimming strokes, diving stunts, and life saving methods, the instructor said. No admission fee will be charged.

TWO AUTOS DAMAGED IN CRASH ON MOBILE

Two automobiles were damaged in a crash at Mobile avenue and Seventh street Tuesday afternoon about 5:30 when a car driven by A. D. Hughes, 1945 Eighth street, and another driven by Mrs. Pat Reed, ran together, police report. A fender was torn from Mrs. Reed's automobile, and Hughes' car was badly wrecked, according to reports given the police. Some of the occupants of the cars were hurt.

FIRST AID CLASSES TO MEET TONIGHT

First Aid classes, organized by the local Red Cross chapter will meet tonight tonight for instruction. Class No. 1 will meet at the Red Cross hut in charge of Dr. Fulbright. Class No. 2 will meet at Central Fire station in charge of Dr. Carr.

Torn Love Notes Cast Up Reveal Girl's Identity and a Hidden Chapter in Romance

CONFLICT SEEN IF FEDERAL PRO HAND IS FORCED

'Law of the Land,' President Warns

BAD PRECEDENT

Scores Factors Seeking to Discredit Dry Act

NEWBURG, N. Y., May 16.—Warning that very serious consequences might result from failure of any state to uphold prohibition is sounded by President Harding in a letter to Dr. Wesley Wait of this city, made public here today.

Conflict between state and federal authorities would develop from the government being forced to enter the state's territory to make the law effective, the president said, and the distressing results that would ensue rapidly suggest themselves.

New York's Repeal

The letter was written in response to one from Dr. Wait in which he called the president's attention to the New York legislature's action in repealing the state prohibition law, and urged Mr. Harding to have federal officials ready to take swift action if Governor Smith signs the repealer.

"The nation has deliberately, after many years of consideration, adopted the present policy which is written into the 18th amendment," said Harding. "It is the law of the land, so as of every state within the union, so as long as it remains the national

LONDON-AUSSIE RAILWAY PLAN

Would Cut Trip From 50 to 13 Days

LONDON, May 16.—From London to Australia by train in a fortnight is the ambitious project put forward by Lord Strathpey, prominent student of industrial and economic problems.

Strathpey contends that there are no insurmountable engineering or constructional difficulties about the building of a continuous land line through Europe, Asia, Minor, Persia, India and the Malay Peninsula, with a short sea ferry route to northern Australia, thus making an almost straight line from London to Sydney.

What the Canadian Pacific railway is to Canada and the Transiberian to Russia, could be duplicated by an all land route to Australia, he says, and he quotes James J. Arnold, the eminent engineer, in support of his scheme.

Strathpey is a typical representative of the British Empire, holding a Scottish peerage, a Nova Scotia baronetcy, and having been born in New Zealand. He sailed and served with New Zealand contingents in the South African and European wars.

12,000 Miles Long
Pointing out that the principal difficulties about the construction of an London-Australia line would be political rather than natural, he says: "Of the 12,000 miles separating London from Sydney, only 720 are necessarily water, which could be crossed by train ferries, thus obviating the necessity of changing carriages."

"By far the greater part of the route 10,000 miles, would be perfectly level, leaving some 1780 miles for gradients, junctions, etc. As regards the 720 miles of train ferry, the only serious ocean current to be crossed would be between the Isle of Turner and Queensland, but as the currents are tidal between the long belt of islands it might be necessary to build locks at the ports. All along the land route there is natural power in abundance, and no mechanical difficulties to deter experienced engineers, so that the main difficulty would be obtaining concessions from the countries traversed."

Further, Lord Strathpey points out, it is not a question of building 12,000 miles of railways for large sections of the route are already in existence—across Europe and India, for instance. In any event such a vast artery of civilization would provide work for hundreds of thousands of unemployed for years to come. Minerals, grain, meat, vegetables, chemicals and raw materials, abundant at every hundred miles of the route, thus aiding construction and providing a ready-made goods traffic huckster and forwards.

Saving in Time
The saving of time from the point of view of passenger service would be immense. Instead of from 35 to 50 days as required at present, it could be done in 13 days—less than a fortnight instead of six weeks. At fifty miles an hour 11,500 miles would take ten days; say two days for ferry to cover 720 miles at 15 miles an hour and add one day for stops and changes.

The cost though high, he contends, would not be excessive or it would be a constant revenue producing source at every stage. A channel tunnel would, of course, be the first section required, linking England with the continent.

UPTON SINCLAIR AND 3 RAILED

'Jungle' Writer Makes Test of 'Assembly' Law

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Upton Sinclair, author of the "Jungle," stood on Liberty Hill last night and read to a little group of three friends a few words for the purpose of the constitution of the United States.

His audience was his brother-in-law, Hunter Kimbrough, Prince Hopkins and H. R. Haldeman.

The four were arrested immediately, brought here, lodged in jail without bail for the night, and today were to be charged with criminal syndicalism and unlawful assemblage.

Sinclair was making a test case, on behalf of six hundred strikers and strike sympathizers who are under arrest in connection with the Longshoremen's walkout at San Pedro, California.

The authorities banned public meetings following the great roundup of men. The author and his friends, who are members of the American civil liberties union, left their Pasadena homes last night and drove to the waterfront. They were met by police, who searched them against holding a "meeting." Proceeding to Liberty Hill, they formed a quiet group to which Sinclair read a few words and arrest ensued.

HOOCH 'MILL ENDS'

NEW YORK, May 16.—Complaints of stillers against excessive packaging accompanying delivery of bonded liquor disclosed a new form of hooch piracy. Transfers drop cases and gather what is left for sale in small lots.

COUNTERFEIT

Police in Riga said a secret printing plant and find tons of freshly printed Russian paper money, unissued, backed by the government of the land.

This looks as if royalties are preparing thoroughly for a counter revolution. It is not impossible that Trotsky will wind up his career back again working here in New York's East Side.

If Girls Run Off To Distant Cities Only The Parents Are to Blame Says Deaconess

BY MIRIAM HALE

NEW YORK, May 16.—"Love of finery and jazz are the cheese that draws the little country mice into the city trap," says Miss Virginia Young, As head deaconess of the famous No. 17 Beekman Place Shelter House, Miss Young has listened to the confessions of thousands of runaway girls who have found their way to her ever-open door and shared the hospitality that she always extends to girls in need, irrespective of race or creed.

"The love of finery is as old as Eve herself," she explained. "We all go through it and most of us never quite get over it. It is just as natural for sixteen to want fine feathers and a good time as it is for twenty to want an overstuffed chair and a footstool."

"Many of the fads of flappers today seem silly to their mothers and those who have passed the flapper stage. But let them just remember the things that were dear to their hearts at that age. They were just as absurd."

Encouragement Needed

"The wise mother knows that if you give a girl enough rope she won't hang herself. Let her have the ridiculous red sandals or the long earrings if they will make her happy. "It isn't the girl with the pretty clothes and the normal good times who becomes a wandering daughter. It's the little lonesome girl, who has been denied small luxuries until they have attained an exaggerated importance in her mind, who wants to snatch pleasure where she thinks it 'thrifts'—in the big city."

Miss Young believes every mother should make it her business to see that her daughter has opportunities to meet decent young men, and that she has the advantage of such wholesome pleasures as the Girl Scout organization and girls' clubs offer.

"Many a mother," she continues, "goes to the movies, leaving her daughter at home alone in the evening to care for the younger children without realizing just what rebellion goes on inside the daughter's mind."

"And probably father is so busy getting bread and potatoes for his family he doesn't sympathize with his daughter's appetite for cake."

Three Live in Comedians Love Nest Built For Two

'Perfect Triangle' Results When Divorced Wife and Present On Take to Each Other, Says Cummings

ANSONIA, Conn., May 16.—A love nest built for two, holds three, in harmony in the oddest "triangle" of many a day, disclosed here by the principals.

Bob Cummings, knockout comedian, is living in a bungalow with both his divorced wife and the present Mrs. Cummings. The women get along perfectly, he says, wear each other's clothes, take turns getting meals and everything is lovely.

Remarkable Agreement
The full story of the remarkable agreement, by which the three Cummings live together in conformity with the "laws of God and men," as they say, outlined by Cummings something like this:

The comedian of fame on Broadway because of his eccentric dancing which has brought him his name in light bulbs over theatre entrances, married Helen Gladys, of Bridgeport, N. J., nine years ago. She is 28, "dark of the Spanish type, with fiery disposition," her husband says. They have a daughter, Edna, 5.

Loveless Crashed.
"I'm not married, so we crashed," Cummings said.

"In 1919 Mrs. Cummings obtained a divorce."

"I gave her $1,000,000," the comedian said, "500,000 in a $1,000,000 bond, a $2,500 car, a $100,000 baby and a $100 dog."

But he had also to pay alimony of $50 a week, which is one reason for the love nest having been widened.

In 1920, Cummings married blonde Irene Slater, of Orange, N. J. She is 25.

The two women met on the beach and took an instant liking to each other. The present season rolled around with all the Cummings, past and present, on the friendliest possible footing.

And Then
With approach of the end of the theatrical season came the prospect, no pay day, no alimony.

Mrs. Cummings' number one had decided on a bungalow at Freeport, while her ex-wife and her successor were going to camp on the banks of the Housatonic river.

"About that time," the first Mrs. Cummings had a bright idea," continued.

"I gave her $1,000,000," the comedian said, "500,000 in a $1,000,000 bond, a $2,500 car, a $100,000 baby and a $100 dog."

But he had also to pay alimony of $50 a week, which is one reason for the love nest having been widened.

In 1920, Cummings married blonde Irene Slater, of Orange, N. J. She is 25.

HIGHER WAGES FOR JACK TARS

Increase Ranges $7.50 to $10 Monthly

GALVESTON, Texas, May 16.—Basic increases of from $7.50 to $10 a month in the pay of seamen on shipping board vessels and life installation of these watches instead of two for wheelmen and lookouts, for which deck crews will be increased by two extra able seamen, went into effect yesterday as a result of a conference between the shipping board and the International Sailors' Union.

Approximately eight hundred men employed on shipping board vessels operated out of Galveston are affected by the increase, in addition to which more able seamen will be given employment. According to the new scale, as given out at the shipping board office here, following receipt of advice from Washington, the new and old scales are as follows:

Deck Department.
	New Wage, Old Scale
Carpenter .....	$80.00 $70.00
Carpenter's mate .....	70.00 60.00
Boatswain .....	75.00 65.00
Boatswain's mate .....	70.00 60.00
Quartermaster .....	70.00 60.00
Able seaman .....	62.50 52.50
Ordinary seaman .....	47.50 40.00
Stowkeeper .....	70.00 60.00

Engine Department.
	New Wage, Old Scale
Deck engineer .....	$80.00 $70.00
Pumpman .....	80.00 70.00
Dunkelman .....	75.00 65.00
Storekeeper .....	70.00 60.00
Oiler .....	72.50 62.50

Fireman (oil burn) .....

Fireman (coal burn) ..... ing vessel) .....

Coal passer .....

Water tender .....

The old wage scale, which was discarded yesterday, went into effect on Feb. 6, 1922. It is seen in the new scale that firemen aboard coal-burning vessels have been given extra money, because of the additional labor involved, than firemen employed on vessels which burn oil as fuel. In the former agreement no differentiation was made.

The International Sailors' Union, whose efforts brought about the increase on the part of the board, is not affiliated with the Marine Transport Workers' Industrial Union No. 510, which is now out on strike, and up to yesterday it had not been determined whether or not the increase in wages would have any effect upon the strike now in progress. The increase granted by the board ranged from 12 to 20 per cent, and the demand of the Marine Transport Workers' Union, in addition to other items including the release of war-time prisoners, called for a greater wage increase.

13 Million Sought
By Rodger Farmer
In Colonial Estate

SHELL LAKE, Wis., May 16.—Otis Morgeson, a farmer of Washburn county, living west of here, is one of 30 heirs to a contested estate valued at $50,000,000. Mr. Morgeson left for Chicago to meet with the other heirs in an effort to make a settlement.

In 1798 Charles Christopher Springer received from the United States government as a reward for distinguished military service a tract of land consisting of 2,651 acres near Wilmington, Del.

Mr. Springer later leased this land, which was at that time of little value, for a term of 99 years. In the meantime Wilmington grew and the land is now in the heart of the city. The lease recently expired and the heirs of Mr. Springer are now seeking to straighten out the title to the land and settle the estate.

Mr. Morgeson is a great-grandson of the original owner and his share of the estate will amount to about $13,000,000 if the heirs win their fight.

LANSING, Mich., May 16.—Donald Munson, 22, cripple, was the season's first drowning victim here. While canoeing in Red Cedar river the canoe tipped over. Munson had just left two girls on the river bank and was starting back.

They're Delegates Despite Youth

JACKSON, Tenn., May 16.—If there have ever been delegates to any state convention younger than Carolyn Cawthon and Helen Buck of this city—let them come forward!

The older of the two, Carolyn, is but 11 tender years, and as president of the Juvenile MacDonald Club recently attended the Tennessee Federation of Music Clubs in Chattanooga. Helen, 9, went along as delegate.

The two youngsters gleaned valuable experience in the rudiments of parliamentary law, and friends are hopeful it will stand them in good stead in future years should they decide to enter the political arena.

Those attending the convention say it was a decided and refreshing innovation to see the young president swinging down the aisle with her nine-year-old delegate, each clad in doll stockings!

Their club has 49 members, and plans to be a power in state musical circles. At least the convention showed they were alive to the importance of proper representation.

Scolded for Drinking;
Shoots Foster Mother

STIERHOGON, May 16.—Andrew Krumavich, 28, is in the city jail awaiting the outcome of wounds inflicted on his foster mother, Mrs. John Sinekewitz. He came home in an intoxicated condition and when Mrs. Sinekewitz scolded him drew a pistol and shot her. The bullet entered her right leg, passed through the lower abdomen and lodged in her left leg. Physicians say the wounds will probably not be fatal. Krumavich was brought from Lithuania when a boy by Mr. and Mrs. Sinekewitz, and though not adopted, was looked upon as their son. He expressed no regret over the shooting and is quoted as saying he was sorry there were no more shells in his gun.

Jefferson Co. Valuation Increase is $4,500,000

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 16.—An increase of $4,500,000 in Jefferson county's valuation this year over the total of $84,000,000 last year, expected by Ogden Johnson, county tax assessor. The bureau tax valuation in the county will remain unchanged it was announced Tuesday, when county commissioners and the tax assessor opened sittings as a board of equalization.

Property owners will be given opportunity to appear before the board with any complaints about taxes assessed against them, the board to in session for six or seven weeks.

The Port Arthur Grain Co. of Several Years Ago

Above is a very unique picture of the Port Arthur Grain Co. as it appeared only a few years ago. At that time there were only about three or four employees who attended both to a wholesale and retail business. At that time we only had one delivery truck drawn by one single horse, to take care of all our deliveries. It doesn't seem like it has been just a few years since we were located and housed in this tiny little frame building.

And The Port Arthur Grain Co. of Today

Today, however, we have grown to the largest grain house in Port Arthur and with the opening of our produce department we will be the only house of this kind in the city. We will have seven large cooling rooms to take care of every demand of the Port Arthur trade. We now have about 20 employees and salesmen. Our building now covers almost half a block, our warehouse space having been greatly enlarged. Seven automobile trucks and delivery wagons are required in delivering our business. Above is a picture of our new home as it stands today.

MEXICO'S LAWS NOT TO CHANGE

'Recognition' Session May Terminate Early

MEXICO CITY, May 16.—The session with which the American delegates to the "recognition" conference laid their cards on the table at the opening session has completely changed the aspect of the situation. Where a murky, lasting week and possibly months, was looked for, it now is believed the present session will be of short duration.

The secrecy issue also received a jolt, although the sessions are private. A few hours after the conference began, the American delegates handed the press a statement going into great detail about United States attitude toward Mexico.

The statement at the opening session, made by American Delegate Charles B. Warren, to the effect that "there can be no compromise with fundamental principles essential to international business" is accepted as the keynote of the entire conference. But it was fired so bluntly the Mexicans consider it in the nature of a broadside.

The Mexican press "understands" that no matter what is proposed at the parley, Mexico's laws are to remain unchanged.

MOTHER, 13, CUDDLES HER LIVE BABY DOLL

FOND DU LAC, May 16.—Transferred to the women's industrial home at Taycheedah from the industrial school for girls at Milwaukee, a pretty little 13-year-old girl, whose home is in the northern part of the state, is cuddling a baby boy to her bosom as though he were a doll. The child became a mother Sunday, when the stork paid his third visit within a week at the Taycheedah institution.

The mother, a mere wisp of a child, played with a little doll before her baby was born. Today she is gazing in wonderment at her pretty live doll. Her father is dead and her stepfather is behind the bars, paying the penalty for the charge that sent the little girl to the Taycheedah institution.

The child is a native Russian and was brought to America by her parents when an infant. The family went to live at Cornucopia in Washburn county and it was here that the father died a few years ago. The mother married again but shortly afterward when neighbors complained to the authorities that he was mistreating his stepdaughter, who was then but 12.

TEN-YEAR FIGHT WON TO CUT HOTEL HOURS

MADISON, May 16.—A 10-year fight to bring hotels under the provisions of the Wisconsin law limiting the hours of work of women was ended with Gov. Blaine's signature to the Killian bill establishing a 10-hour day and 55-hour week for women hotel workers.

Previous legislatures have killed similar bills intended to extend the hours of labor law. It was by compromise that the senate voted to bring hotels under the statute.

The original bill, passed by the assembly, called for a nine-hour working day and a 50-hour week for day work and an eight-hour day for night work by women in hotels. A senate amendment, accepted by a narrow margin established a 10-hour day for day work and a 55-hour week, with nine hours of night work and a 54-hour week. In that form the bill became a law.

LITTLE TO FEAR FROM BANDITS

Man Who Knows Says They Won't Harm

NEW YORK, May 16.—An American who probably knows more Chinese bandits intimately than any other person in the world, says there is little to fear from most of them.

He is Dr. Thomas Coole, Kansas physician, who has just returned to this country after 20 years work in Southern China for the Board of Foreign Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"The attack on the Shanghai-Peking express and kidnapping of foreigners by bandits," he says, "is the most serious anti-foreign action in China since the Boxer rebellion. But it is so unusual, and so contrary to the general attitude of mind among the (young) bandits, that it cannot be construed as part of a concentrated plan to terrorize foreigners."

"Most Chinese bandits don't work that way."

They Can Bargain
In cases of kidnapping for ransom, Chinese officials are usually taken instead of foreigners.

"For them," says Dr. Coole, "the bandits are able to bargain with the authorities for the exchange of children in the hands of the law and comrades in danger of execution."

"Chinese bandits rarely shoot straight and few of them are reckless enough to risk a punitive expedition of native troops. They are even more afraid of foreign forces. That's what makes the kidnapping of the Americans so unusual."

Penniless ex-soldiers and politicians, out of favor, make up most of the bands of bandits.

"Broke and out of luck," says Dr. Coole, "these men take to making a living the easiest way they know how. As soldiers they had learned how to maneuver; and as politicians they had learned how to graft. So they easily work hand in hand."

"While they think little of killing men of their own kind, they are afraid of harming others."

"Christians usually go unmolested. A Bible or a prayer book has saved many a life."

"Many of the Chinese know this, and often carry these books for protection, although they are not believers in the faith."

"At one time the run on these books for passport use became so great, I had to sew little badges on the coats of the converted to mark them from the others."

Never Been Harmed
Dr. Coole has been held up often in China. But he has never been harmed.

"One day while I was returning from a long trip into the province of Fukien," Dr. Coole went on, "my train was stopped by a group of bandits. They said their chieftain wanted to see me."

"I told them I was busy. They became threatening and forced me to accompany them."

"Leaving my carriage and coolies behind, I went to the camp behind a stockade a considerable way off the road."

"The chief was most cordial. He apologized for having troubled me. But he had an urgent matter to discuss."

"He wanted to build a Christian church."

"He was insistent. Only after long argument was I able to show him that it would not be feasible for us to use his plunder for spreading the gospel of God."

What He Wanted
A few weeks later, Dr. Coole found out the reason for the zeal of the chief.

"He wanted to get back into good standing with the law-abiding citizens," he says. "And he did. He was pardoned by the government, was reinstated, and became a magistrate."

"But he soon got into trouble again, and was, according to latest reports, awaiting execution in a Chinese prison at Pechow."

Imprisoned

LOS ANGELES, May 15.—A total of 600 alleged I. W. W. and others involved in the harbor shipping strike were under arrest and lodged in various city jails today, according to police.

About a third of those arrested carried I. W. W. cards, police said.

DECLARE FOLLIES' ROLE HARDER THAN IN OPERA

NEW YORK, May 16.—The role of a singer in the Ziegfeld Follies is more exacting than grand opera, if the testimony of Florenz Ziegfeld, Jr., Abraham L. Erlanger and Gene Buck, composer of Follies music, is to be accepted. They were called in the suit brought by Olive Connell, youthful coloratura soprano, against Ziegfeld for $25,000 damages for alleged breach of contract.

Mrs. Connell alleges she gave up a $550 a week vaudeville job in 1920 to appear in the Follies of 1920 at $200. The decrease in salary would have been offset, she contended, by the prestige of being a member of the Follies cast.

However, after she had sung opposite John Steel, Follies tenor, the opening work at Atlantic City early in May, 1920, she was discharged. She is seeking $10,000 for alleged loss of salary and $15,000 for alleged loss of prestige. Mr. Ziegfeld testified that although Mrs. Connell is a good opera singer she was "impossible" as a Follies singer.

Eat Wisely Says Oscar, Waldorf Chief, Who Arranges Proper Diet for All Ailments

BY MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, May 16.—Oscar, of the Waldorf, highest priced chef in the country, having originated many of the most elaborate dishes and sauces extant and having lured thousands into mild flirtations with dyspepsia, has turned his attention to scientific diet.

From now on, Oscar-Tschirky is his last name, although he is known best by his first—is going to feed people wisely rather than too well. He has recently compiled a number of special diet panaceas so that any hotel guest who finds himself suffering from any particular ailment can find his invalid appetites catered to quite as carefully as they would be at home.

Say, for instance, you are suffering from malnutrition. You do not take the regular bill of fare when the waiter hands it to you, but ask for your particular diet list.

Prepared Diets
On reading pamphlet number five, you learn that your condition calls for simple, non-irritating, palatable and easily assimilated food. Fruit acids and green vegetables, because of their mineral content, should be part of your daily food allowance.

Thick soups, any broiled fresh fish, light meat, rice, macaroni, spaghetti and cheese are fixed up in any number of interesting fashions to keep your attention from highly seasoned, hard-to-digest foods. If you stick to number five, you can't go wrong.

Suppose, on the other hand, you suffer from overweight—then you confine yourself to diet list number two, and you won't get too many calories. You are warned to look carefully only on the thin soups, lean meat or fish, vegetables, salads and unsweetened fruit.

Or if you suffer from diabetes or tetosis, angina pectoris, rheumatism, gout, neuritis, high blood pressure, low blood pressure, heart disease, or anything, Oscar has thought out all your food problems for you.

Helps Cure
"People today realize the correct diet is the first way to combat any ailment," he states. "They know that no other treatment can be effective unless it is backed by the right food."

"The reason most people find a diet list some is because they limit themselves to a few foods and usually prepare them the same way. With in any diet there is variety enough for an epicure if one will only study it out."

And that is just what Oscar has done.

"Overeating, imperfect mastication and mental perturbation at meals must necessarily be avoided to make any diet effective," he warns.

TEST YOUTH'S SANITY IN OVEN DEATH CASE

MERRILL, May 16.—On motion of F. J. Smith, attorney for Edwin Seger, 17 year old "slayer of John Schilke, night watchman at the Kaut hub plant, Judge A. H. Reed Tuesday ordered an examination to determine Seger's sanity.

Dr. Adin Sherman, of the Northern Hospital for Insane, and Dr. K. L. Morris, Merrill, will make the examination.

Seger expressed regret for his act and said that if he ever becomes a free man again he will endeavor to live within the law. He continues the denial that he placed Schilke's body over the Dutch oven, where it was found partly cremated, and denies that he found money on Schilke.

"I was broke and hungry," said Seger, when asked for the motive for the crime.

CHICAGO, May 16.—A campaign to raise "fifty grand" to "spring" "Big Tim" Murphy from Leavenworth prison is under way in the Chicago underworld, according to reports reaching police today.

Nearly $27,000 of the $50,000 fund sought to obtain release of the Chicago labor leader has been raised, according to these reports. He is serving four years following conviction on a mail robbery charge.

Business agents, union leaders and employers have been solicited to add to the fund, according to police information. The means to be used in procuring "Big Tim's" release have not been released. However, his close friends were reported to have said they expected to see him free in July.

CHURCH, GIDEONS UNITE TO DEFEND BLUE LAWS

FOND DU LAC, May 16.—Asserting that the Sunday motion picture and sporting interest are tending to break down the American type of Sabbath and are destroying the fundamental institutions of civilization, members of the Protestant churches of this city and the annual state convention of the Wisconsin Gideons unanimously adopted resolutions protesting the passage of the Grain bill, now before the Wisconsin senate, which seeks to repeal blue laws now on the statute books.

W. A. Todd, Milwaukee, charged that the motion picture industry is controlled by four or five persons who have no interest in the Sabbath, while the people in their employ are demanding that the theatres be closed Sundays in order to give them a day of rest.

The Grain bill, which has passed the assembly, is being protested on the grounds that measures are being introduced in nearly every state which aim to break down the American type of Sabbath in the interest of commercialized amusements.

YOUTH SHOTS KILLS BOY CHUM

Boys Playing With Gun
Results in Injury

MILWAUKEE, May 16.—Playing with a gun today sent one 15-year-old boy to the Emergency hospital with a 32-caliber bullet in his left hip and a 15-year-old chum to the central police station for questioning.

The wounded lad is Sylvester Kurk, 1183 Eighth-av., and the chum is Stanley Szukowski, 636 Arthur-av. The shooting occurred in the Chase yards of the Northwestern road just north of Oklahoma- Blvd.

The shooting was witnessed by a detective. He turned at the sound of the shot and soon saw Stanley attempt to carry the wounded boy to the street.

According to the story told police by Stanley, the gun was the property of his brother, Frank. The trigger spring was broken and he had mended it with rubber bands. He said he didn't believe the rubber bands were strong enough to drop the hammer of the gun. As the two boys were examining it, Stanley snapped back the hammer and let go. The bullet went into the other boy's side.

Capt. Harry McCrory sent Stanley to the district attorney, who released him, pending the outcome of the wounded boy's condition. At the hospital it was said that young Kurk was in no danger, and undoubtedly would recover.

DOWN THRU THE YEARS AND STILL AT IT ARE THESE MEN WHO REFUSE TO GROW OLD IN WORK

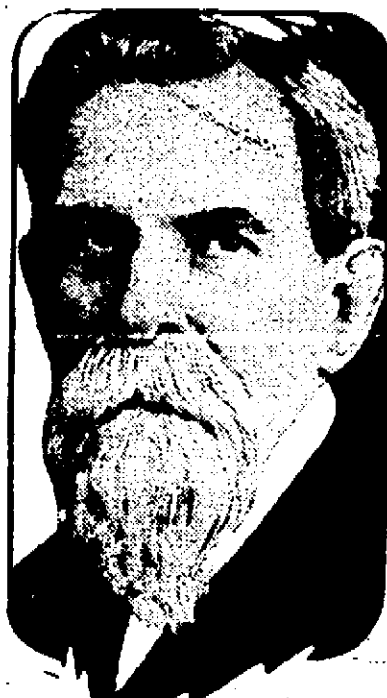

JOHN R. BOOTH, 98.

ADMIRAL CHESTER, 79.

COLONEL C. C. CULVER, 51.

GROVE L. JOHNSON, 82.

JUDGE WILLIAM L. KELLY, 85.

By MARUICE HENLE

NEA Service Writer

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 16.—How old must a man be before he is really old?

Thousands rise to answer, "There is no age too advanced for active work."

But among the outstanding ones who voice the cry is a quintet of splendid examples.

The youngest, in the opinion of the oldest, is a mere boy—51 years. The oldest, in the opinion of the youngest, is not a bit too old—97 years.

Here are the five:

John R. Booth, 97, owner and active operator of bug lumber, pulp and paper mills in Canada.

Judge William Louis Kelly, 85, who only a few days ago retired from active bench work at St. Paul, Minn.

Grove L. Johnson, 82, receiver of public moneys at the Sacramento, Cal., land office.

Bear Admiral Colby M. Chester, 79, who recently ended a 31-year quest and obtained immensely valuable oil and mineral concessions in the Near East.

Colonel C. C. Culver, 51, oldest flying officer in the United States air service.

Consider the last first.

At what age does a man begin to lose his nerve as a flier?

"It all depends on the man himself, I guess," says Colonel Culver, who is still an active army pilot.

"But as to the age a man begins to slip—well, I'm only 51, so you'll have to ask someone older."

At 79, Admiral Chester didn't feel too old to consummate a 34-year-old dream, and consummate the deal which gave him concessions said to be worth a billion in the Near East. Dollars—not marks or rubles.

As commander of the good ship Kentucky, in 1889, Chester first made the acquaintance of Turkey and the Turks.

It is this 79-year-old U. S. admiral's stroke of business genius that is to meet the combined resistance of France and England at the next Lausanne conference. And Chester, nearly 80, will defend his concessions himself.

Of our next hero, Hon. Grove L. Johnson, now 82, one may best illustrate his opinion on the subject of age by quoting him.

He was talking with friends recently when someone recalled that Dr. David Starr Jordan once remarked, "a man doesn't begin to live until 70."

"What does Dave know about it?" demanded Johnson, "why, he's only a mere kid."

In addition to his other duties, Johnson finds time to write for newspapers, is active in church work and conducts affairs of the Sacramento Bar association. He has long been a factor in California politics.

And, oh yes, he is the father of Senator Hiram Johnson.

Turning to Judge William Louis Kelly, 85, who just celebrated two anniversaries on the same day in St. Paul—

We find this period marked the end of the jurist's 36 years of service as judge of the Ramsey County

District Court of Minnesota, and the 51st anniversary of his marriage.

He's not only the oldest judge in years but in point of service, too. Eleven of the 22 judges who served with him, now are dead.

Kelly served with Sherman in the Civil War.

But he says he's still too young to learn to smoke.

The oldest of the quintet is John R. Booth. Should he live three more years he will round out an even century.

A good many men have reached the same age, but few have been inspired with a desire to keep in the harness in the twilight of life.

There is little of the figure popularly associated with age about Booth.

Owner of 6000 square miles of timber land, every day finds him on the job, actively directing his thousands of employees.

In 1921, he formed the "John R. Booth, Limited," capitalized at $10,000,000, and having as directors his sons and daughters. But he still remains as active head.

Widow of Late Senator is Dead

THOMSON, Ga., May 16.—Funeral services for Mrs. Thomas E. Watson, widow of the late Senator Tom Watson, of Georgia, who died at her home here last night, will be held tomorrow. Mrs. Watson, who had been ill for several days, became suddenly worse last night and died from an acute attack of diabetes. She is survived by two daughters in Washington, D. C.

GETS GENIUS' BRAIN

CHICAGO, May 16.—The brain of Richard M. Thompson, heralded as a boy genius after he had passed the Stanford-Binet mental tests with a rating of between 160 and 165, is to be given to the department of neurology of the University of Chicago. This announcement was made Thursday by his father, Dr. Thomas M. Thompson, who did post graduate work at the university, the boy was drowned Tuesday in a lake on the campus of Colgate university.

CONSPIRATORS OPEN WALL STREET DRIVE

NEW YORK, May 16.—A new drive was opened today by conspirators seeking to defraud Wall Street through spurious buying orders. Numerous false orders to buy stocks on the exchange were received over the telephone from persons who attempted to impersonate regular customers of the brokers. The conspirators hoped to throw this buying power into the exchange to force the market up.

This followed a recent deluge of orders accompanied by spurious certified checks, received by mail by many eastern brokers about two weeks ago.

LIFE HISTORY OF KING BEN GIVEN TO JUDGE

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., May 16.—Stories of the intimate life of "King" Benjamin Purnell ruler of the House of David were given today to Judge Harry Dingeman conducting the one man grand jury investigation of the religious cult.

Esther Widders of Mansfield, Ohio, a former member of the colony, was called to tell of experiences while she was a resident of Shiloh.

According to a French scientist,

DON'T DIVORCE YOUR HUSBAND

Get a Soulmate in Your Reincarnation

NEW YORK, May 16.—Found a solution for marital difficulties. It's reincarnation.

"American wives would be far more patient with their husbands if they knew they were going to be born again," says Miss Sushila Devi, Hindu writer and teacher now on a visit to this country.

"In America you have what you call love matches, but everywhere I see people rushing to divorce courts."

"In India our marriages are arranged by the parents but you hear very little of divorce."

"It is because of the Hindu woman's belief in reincarnation. No matter how faithless her husband may be, she knows that if she is forgiving and patient her next life will be correspondingly happier."

"But if she seeks to meet death with death, or fault finding with anger, she knows that she will have to pay for it in her next life. Above, she knows that the troubles she endures now may be her payment of mistakes made in a past life."

"And the Hindu woman has learned something else that the American woman has yet to learn—that if she is patient while her husband has his fling, in later years he will be her slave."

Miss Devi does not deny that the reasoning applies equally well to husbands.

She thinks there is an amazing lack of sympathy between the American parent and child.

"It is the one discordant note in the American civilization," says Miss Devi.

"The children are rude, they disregard their parents, and the parents seem neither to notice nor to care."

"Your newspapers are full of advice to girls on how they may be attractive to men. It would be far better if your girls were taught to think less of the sex appeal and more of how to endure themselves to everyone—to have soft sweet voices and durable tempers and never to speak back to anyone."

JUDGE O'BRIEN CHANGES BENCHES WITH COMBS

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 16.—Disqualified as a result of becoming interested in a number of cases while practicing law before being elected judge of the 58th district court, Judge George C. O'Brien will exchange benches with Judge J. M. Combs, of the 72nd district court at Koenigs, for three weeks, starting June 11, it was announced here today.

Style Show Features Mid-Summer Opening At Deutser's Store

In connection with the mid-summer millinery opening at Deutser's, a millinery style show was presented at Deutser's Monday night with Hazel Parrish as the millinette, who wore some of the most charming creations of the mid-summer season.

With an effective rainbow setting of draperies of pastel shades, Miss Parrish, attired in a gorgeous frock of shimmering silk, wearing a hat of gold beads, wore the hats with an air of an experienced model. Translucent hats in all the desired shades of white, pink and gray creations, and feathers with various trimmings, all of which are said to be smart this season, were all shown.

The showing was under the direction of Mrs. K. A. Abbott, head of Deutser's millinery department, assisted by Mrs. J. M. Carney and Mrs. A. A. Hauser.

HISTORIC CANNON IS SAVED AND MOUNTED

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 16.—Instead of being sold as old iron, a pre-Revolutionary war cannon used by George Washington in the defense of Winchester after he ejected Fort London, some years before the war for independence broke out will be preserved and mounted on the lawn in front of the Handley library.

The cannon, in possession of the family of the late Noah W. Solenberger for 50 years, was recently purchased at a personal property sale by Frank H. Taylor. It has been announced that Mayor W. W. Woodbury, and his business associates, Boyd R. Richards, Alva C. Richards and E. W. Bailey, had closed a deal to buy the cannon at a nominal sum and that permission to mount the historic gun at the Handley library had been given by the Handley board of trustees.

Mr. Taylor will also contribute to the cost of erecting and marking the relief.

HARDING LEAVES ON ALASKAN TOUR SOON

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Harding will leave Washington for his Alaskan trip on June 20, it was officially announced at the White House today. The official spokesman said he had been "definitely settled" that the president would make the trip.

REGULARS SCOFF AT SEN. BORAH

Third Party Talk Bunk Is View Of G. O. P.s

WASHINGTON, May 16.—"Non-union" of Senator Borah as a third party presidential candidate by the Committee of Forty-Eight has again set the vigilant observers of the two old parties to analyzing the possibilities of a real third party in 1924.

The result of their survey of the situation is this:

Republican leaders do not believe there will be a third party worthy the name. History of industrial and business prosperity, increased wages, better conditions all over the country, have stifled interest to a great degree, they say. They count on tax revision and other legislative steps planned for the coming session of congress still further to appease the dissatisfaction that always is manifested against the party in power. Popular belief in the old saw—a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush—will discount promises held out by the third party progressives the "regulars" claim.

Democrats Calm

The democrats aren't worried by fears of a third party for they figure it would draw more votes from the republicans than from the democratic candidates. They are not encouraging it though because organization politicians never encourage any movement that ultimately might threaten their control of the government.

The "regulars" of both parties say the progressives never can get together well enough to stay together long enough to get anywhere. They refer to political history from 1912 on to prove this.

The danger to them, they admit, lies not in the efforts of the Committee of Forty-Eight, or any other so-called radical or progressive group to put a third party in the field, but in the growing independence of the American voter, who each election manifests greater disregard for party lines.

Independents in Congress
This has been reflected lately in congress, and in the new congress, probably will be even more evident, as the progressive blue majorities first with one side and then with the other.

When they think of a third party the old-line politicians—bears speak of Hiram Johnson. For some reason, they apparently regard Johnson as more dangerous. "I turned loose as a candidate, then either Bora for La Follette. This probably is because to Johnson there still clings some remnant of the old Rooseveltian mantle. But the politicians have cannot see Johnson lending a revolt now, either inside the republic or out of it. They know he will be urged to oppose Harding on the international issue, but they do not believe he will. La Follette they regard as an extremist and Bora could not win, they hold, because he has no constructive program. He is most influential and effective, they claim, when he is opposing some one else's program.

ANCIENT CIDER IS STILL SWEET

Canned 25 Years Ago By Ohio Woman

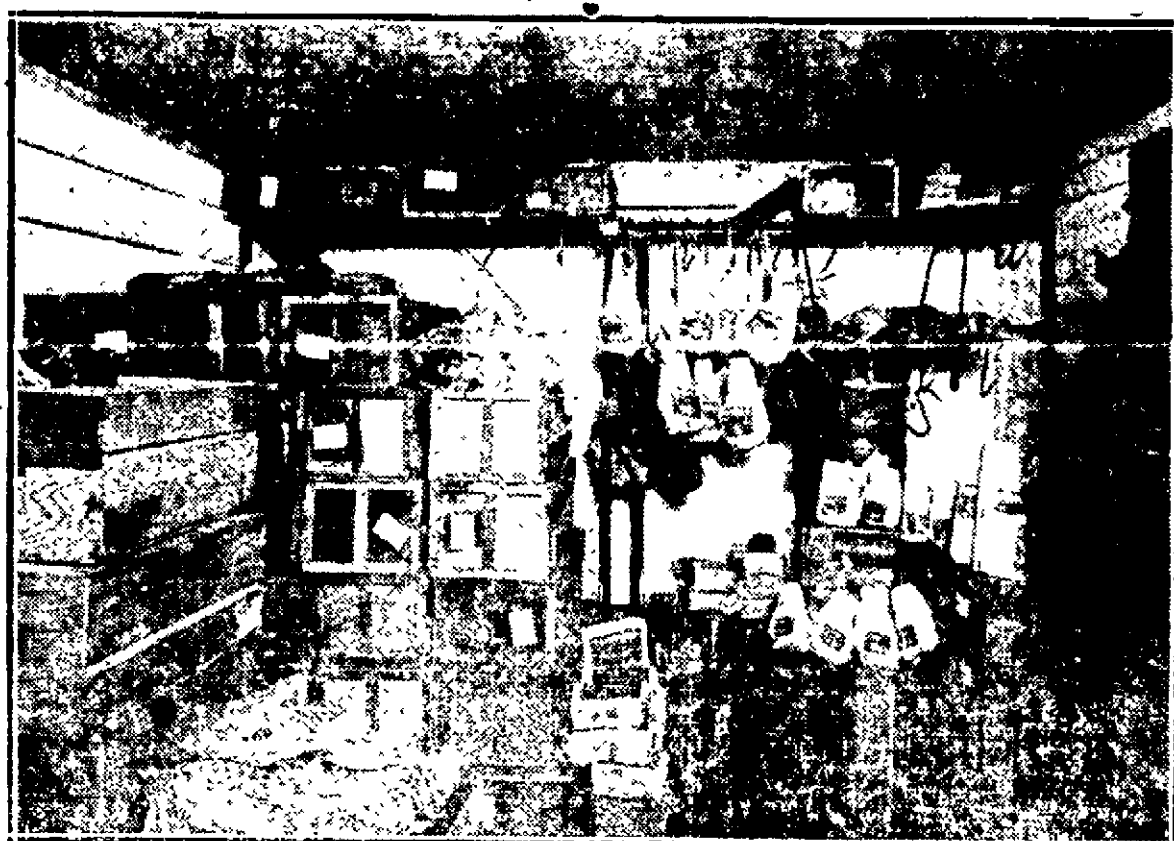

PIQUA, Ohio, May 16.—The only American rival of the ancient mummies of food unearthed with the treasures of King Tut in the basement of Mrs. Maude Carter's home near here.

The food—all canned goods—has been conceded the oldest in the country by the United States department of agriculture and soon will be taken to Washington as an exhibit of proper canning methods and perfect sterilization.

The glass of cider is 75 years old. Two years ago, soon after the production, members of Mrs. Carter's household, not believing the cider could still be "soft" after so many years, opened the jar. They were disappointed to find it still sweet. Mrs. Carter rebuked the cider and put it back in its container.

The oldest jar of fruit contains peaches, said to have been picked from a tree in the Carter backyard in September, 1848. The fruit is in a perfect state of preservation.

It's Matter of Dress When Men Outgrow Their Wives

Fashion Editor Says Too Many Women Let Themselves Go When Families Are Grown

NEW YORK, May 16.—Have you ever wondered why it is that men outgrow their wives?

Reason tells us that the wife who has lived under the same roof with her husband for twenty years, eaten the same meals, discussed the same topics and thought the same thoughts, surely must be his equal as far as brains are concerned. She knows more about his business and his aspirations than any other living creature. Still, folks say he has outgrown her. Why?

It's because the middle-aged woman doesn't keep up with the styles and doesn't try to keep herself as charming as she was in her youth. The minute a woman says "I'm too old to bother about clothes," she sounds the death knell to marital bliss. A woman can never be too old to try to make herself as attractive as possible. If she's ninety years of age, she should take an interest in the latest model on her cap. She'll find some faces more flattering than others to her withered face.

Men Stay Young

Men—bless them—never grow old at heart. And most of them don't grow old in their dresses. Watch them exhorting round the golf links in knickerbockers and plaid hose with a spotty golf cap perched over one eye. That's what makes them seem young.

Take hats, for instance—an elderly man wears the same sort of hats today as do the young college sprigs. The dignified derby has almost gone out of existence. Watch the colorful ties on the old boys! An old-time model collar.

Women seem to think that as soon as their family is grown their business in life is to settle back and watch their children live their lives. This is especially true of women who have daughters. They sacrifice themselves so that their daughters can have clothes of the latest cut and they skip and save and strive to keep their daughters looking attractive while they themselves let their husbands slip away from them by dressing poorly. Youth needs less expensive clothes than age for youth has a multitude of dress flaws. Middle-aged women have many things to combat. Besides wrinkles and crow feet, which demand the most fitting of bonnets, there is that feminine bugaboo—fat. Only the best of gown-makers are adept at concealing the bulging lines.

Dressing Older Women

Older women must also have the best of materials for hats, costumes and evening gowns. Velvet, brocades and fine materials which add dignity. Youth can be colorful and alluring in crisp organza, voiles, muslins and even gingham.

It is every woman's business to keep up with the times with the flappers of today by wearing flapper fashions. She will only seem older by doing so. But she can find numerous styles, which are designed for women of her age and which will make her as attractive as the young miss she calls daughter.

It is every woman's business to keep herself attractive in her husband's eyes. For the successful woman dresses not for women or for men but for one man. Better to let old-fashioned apparel bitter in the ear than to let a fashionably gowning woman supplant yourself in your husband's eyes.

CARSON ADMITS GIRL'S IDENTITY

Says Companion Is Alleged Murderess

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Reports were received by the sheriff's office today that Jess Carson had admitted that his companion at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, is Clara Phillips and announced that he was going to spend all the money necessary to free her. Carson is held in the Honduran federal penitentiary.

"We anticipate no difficulty in extraditing Clara," said Sheriff Traeger. "That it is she, we have no doubt—or we would not have sent a party at great expense to get her. Under Sheriff Biscailhous, Deputy Sheriff Thimble and Mrs. Biscailhous are due in Honduras the latter part of this week and will go through the extradition proceedings immediately. The Honduran authorities have informed the United States consul there that as soon as Clara is identified there will be no delay in her removal, despite activities of attorneys she may have employed. Hence what Carson says is immaterial."

APPEAL TO I. C. C. FOR LOWER FREIGHT RATES

WASHINGTON, May 16.—An appeal for lower freight rates on farm products was addressed to the Interstate Commerce commission by a delegation representing a number of national farm organizations.

Declaring that unless rates are adjusted to permit the farmer a small margin of profit to himself the entire economic structure of America will be in jeopardy, the delegation urged immediate general reduction of all rates on farm products.

GERMANY PREPARES NEW OFFER OF REPARATIONS

BERLIN, May 16.—Germany now proposes to make a new reparations offer to the allies. With replies from France and Belgium, Italy and Great Britain in hand all rejecting the Cuno government's latest offer, the cabinet has decided to try again. The limit of 20,000,000,000 gold marks will not be raised, but better guarantees will be offered.

MARRIAGE EASY SAYS DREAMER

'Dishu Asher' Doesn't Know Why Women 'Fall'

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., May 16.—"Marrying is like picking apples. If apples are bad, you throw them away, don't you? Same way with wives."

So spoke Harold Schwarm, erstwhile "dishu" of royalty, ex-dishwasher in reality, and imaginary member of numerous professions, unabashed yesterday in a guarded cell, where he is held on a charge of perjury.

The "prince's" latest wife, held as a material witness, inasmuch as she was present when he took out a marriage license to wed her under the name of Dr. Van de Vere, and also declared he was a widower, when in truth, according to the police, the deceased was very much alive and well, was released in $500 bail.

Following each negative Harold affected a shrug, reminiscent of the Champs Elysees, and smiled wryly, as much as to say:

"Try and harm me."

"Let them try to hurt me this time. They can't do it. I used other names like the Prince de Bourbon, because everybody is crazy about royalty. You know royalty is invited to all the parties—to parties that a reporter couldn't be asked to even—and so I wanted to have a good time and be invited to places, and so I took the name of Prince de Bourbon for that reason."

Denies Borrowing

"I never borrowed any money under that name in my life and I don't owe a cent under that name. I did not use that name for anything but a good time, not to be crooked at all. "Oh, yes, under another name I owe some money, a hundred dollars, but that is owed on an undated note."

"As for this girl, Catherine Lynn, I dare her to prove that any marriage with me was legal. I dare her to produce any child that she says is mine."

Couldn't Catch Her

"I used to wait in the house in Newark, trying to see her. She came to see my wife there, but would never come until she saw I was out. She was too wise for me. I couldn't catch her."

"I could never have been found out if it had not been for Catherine Lynn. She told about my real family living in New Britain, Conn."

"Why do women like me? Ask them. Only a few have liked me. And the 'dishwasher' extraordinary" lapsed into dreaming.

Broadway Bows To Youth

EDWIN MILLS

NEW YORK, May 16.—Broadway has temporarily abandoned its contemplation of the American girl in order to devote its attention to the exploits of a five-year-old boy.

He is Edwin Mills, who overnight has practically achieved stardom and who one day may challenge the popularity of Jackie Coogan.

As Zander, the race which he plays in the comedy "Zander the Great," Edwin has mastered over 100 cues, the majority of them "business" cues, which actors maintain are the hardest to learn.

He has memorized 15 "sides" or pages of script and all this in spite of the fact that he can neither read nor write. His mother taught him the role in two days.

What goes on in the mind of the child actor?

Has he an ego, a temperament or a complex?

Is he gratified by the applause which wells up nightly over the footlights?

Apparently Edwin is unaware of any of these.

"Did I do it all right?" he says, running to his mother at the end of the performance.

Apparently he is doing it all right, for the critics vote him the star of the performance.

Like all stars, Edwin has an understudy. The understudy is just twice as old as Edwin.

BIG MUD HOUSE IS PREHISTORIC

900 Rooms. It Sheltered Ancient Race

WASHINGTON, May 16.—An American King Tut or some find approximating the Carnarvon expedition's Egyptian discoveries in importance, may reward explorers who have begun digging in the ancient village of Pueblo Bonito, Chaco canyon, New Mexico.

An expedition sent out by the National Geographic society is just beginning to delve into the hidden mysteries of the first great apartment house—a dwelling of 900 rooms, which sheltered aborigines whose history may go back to the dawn of time. The Pueblo Bonito is regarded as the most valuable prehistoric ruin in the United States.

MALARIA PEST SLOWS SOUTH

Doctor Says It Can Be Eradicated in 5 Years

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 16.—The lack of "pep" and the apparent slowness among some southern people is not due to the sunny climate, as many northerners have thought.

The tendency to yawn and feel sluggish, characteristic of some sections of the south, according to the northern brothers, is due to the hookworm and malaria, according to Dr. A. T. McCormick, state health officer from Kentucky, who attended the annual convention of the Louisiana State Medical Association here.

"Free the South of Malaria and hookworm and you will bring greater prosperity," Mr. McCormick declared.

He declared malaria could be driven out of the south in five years with a well planned system of drainage and immunization. Five grains of nine taken daily for sixty days will immunize an individual from malaria, according to Dr. McCormick.

Delegates from outside states who attended the convention presented statistics showing the remarkable strides made in the eradication of malaria during the last few years. State health officials of Louisiana are working on a plan to carry on an unrelenting campaign against the mosquito, as one means of figuring the malaria germ. According to health officials the typical 'malaria mosquito,' is becoming scarce in this state.

ANITA STEWART READY TO OPEN DIVORCE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Anita Stewart, motion picture actress, intends to sue her husband, Rudolph Cameron, screen actor and director, for divorce, according to a story published in the Los Angeles Times Wednesday.

Miss Stewart declined to state what she would charge her husband. She was definitely quoted, however, as declaring she had a divorce suit in contemplation when, two months ago, she explained their living apart by saying they had "agreed to disagree for a little while."

Cameron is believed to be in New York. Miss Stewart eloped with him just before she was 21, five years ago.

HOLD DIAMOND PARADE

ANTWERP, May 16.—Diamond merchants will hold a "Festival of precious stones" in August. Chariots covered with rich oriental rugs encrusted with diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires, will figure in a procession in which 3,000 leading diamond merchants will participate. The police are not altogether happy about this public display of precious stones, and the organizers will have to supply a strong private force of guards.

Are U. S. Ships Really Dry? News' Camera Man on Atlantic Voyage Finds One

NEITHER PRO NOR A SOUSE

News Correspondent Gives First Hand Experience

BY BOB DORMAN
S. S. Service Officers Correspondent, and returned from Europe where he covered the French Occupation of the Ruhr for The Port Arthur
Daily News

NEW YORK, May 16.—This cheerful cable called me back from Europe: "Come home on American ship and find out if it's dry."

I sailed from London on the S. S. President Van Buren of the United States line. I had to wait a week for accommodations on this dry ship.

I'm neither a prohibitionist nor a souse. But I recalled only that on the trip to Europe on a British liner I could buy a highball for 30 cents. In Germany I had beer at 1 cent a glass, Scotch whisky at 8 cents and cognac at 7, and the best wine at 60 cents a quart.

"Sailing on a dry ship," said the barmaid at my London hotel, "let her take something along."

I did. Oh, purely as an investigator. Scotch, government-distilled was $3 a bottle. Domestic Scotch was $2.75. Champagne was $1.

Aboard the President Van Buren was a door notice, posted on the bulletin board, prohibiting the serving of liquor on the ship.

"Can't I get a drink?" I asked Chief Steward Henderson, confidentially.

"Sorry," he said, "but there's not a chance—even unofficially."

Official caution, I thought. So I gamboled around and tackled an under-steward. He said he didn't think I could buy a single drop aboard.

"It's as much as a man's job is worth to be caught bootlegging," he said, "not to mention the penalty of the law."

Room stewards, dining room stewards, the kitchen "large" and the smoke room of other days, and stewards of various races and occupations all said the same.

There was drinking aboard all right. All private stock, though. Passengers discovered this with mixed emotions. There were those persons—say six out of 10 of the "well-taken-drink" folk—who hadn't been forewarned enough to bring their own booze. They were under the impression that the captain would clap them into irons if they brought such contraband aboard.

I didn't ask Captain Moore about it. But I didn't heat the irons clank all the way across.

Those who hadn't been forewarned and daring were out of luck unless they made their friends. That's one way to get popular. I was popular.

Otherwise, those who didn't have found a favorite pastime in leaning over the rail and admiring the vast expanse of the Atlantic Ocean, something I rarely saw happen on the British ship I crossed on.

"It reminds me of home," said a cynical young man.

Drinking was confined to cabins. Six drinking was necessary not only from motives of economy, but because the ship's officers frowned on open libations. They said it might give the impression that liquor was obtainable aboard. You couldn't bring it into the dining room or the smoke room.

The smoke room was funeral most of the time. Only one poker game was organized, and it died of innocuous desuetude.

"Poker and near-beer don't seem to mix," said W. T. Jenkins, of Cotton, Minn.

This item appeared in the passenger list booklet: "The bar opens at 8 a. m. and closes at 11 p. m."

Nobody seemed to care much. Land-side, near-beer and ginger ale hardly seemed to require disciplinary closing hours.

Usually there were more women than men in the smoke room. Lots of women smokers, playing bridge or chess was a more popular game than poker. There were no card sharps on board, which was one source of prohibition.

Chief Steward Henderson only grinned at the grumblings of wet passengers.

Woman Faces Jail For Failure to Pay Husband Alimony

MILWAUKEE, May 16.—Fines she pays up within 10 days, an alimony of more than $100 due to her husband, Mrs. Anna Zink, 625 Hildreth street, must serve a term in the house of correction for contempt of court.

Circuit Judge J. J. Patrick today adjudged Mrs. Zink to be in contempt. She is owing to Vincent Wilba A. Schneider, the first man whom she married, $100 a month.

Mrs. Zink chose to contest the debt, claiming that her husband, who is a well-known local figure, had been drinking and was not fit to be a husband.

Leo Jankowski, a street car conductor, was also brought into the case, claiming that he had been drinking and was not fit to be a husband.

The case was heard in the circuit court, where Judge Patrick found in favor of the plaintiff, Mrs. Zink.

The judgment was entered, and Mrs. Zink was committed to the house of correction for failing to pay the alimony.

The case is expected to be appealed to the state supreme court.

England Adopts Many New Prison Reforms

LONDON, May 16.—England may not be over-popularly admired, according to American ideas, but when it is it goes all the way.

Struck by stories about the home conditions installed in American prisons, the home office has decided that in all British prisons.

South of the Tweed, suits are to replace the present drab costumes, embroidered with the famous "broad arrow."

Exhaustive physical exercises, similar to those moved in the army, will be substituted for the present monotonous prison drill.

Cells are to be made comfortable, with mirrors, wash-basins and bookshelves. Photographs of relatives and friends may be hung on cell walls.

The best behaved prisoners are to be permitted to sit together and to talk in groups.

Cells may be decorated with flowers.

Half Million Loss In Free State Rebellion

BERLIN, May 16.—It will cost upwards of $500,000,000 to repair the damage done by the Easter rebellion, since the conclusion of the Irish Free State, according to a statement made by Kevin O'Higgins, minister of home affairs.

Numerous serious financial and legal difficulties face the Free State authorities, according to the same of fund, and the best of which are to do with the loss of what and why, and how?

There are people who got rich quickly during the last ten months declared O'Higgins, and who have in their possession property and land to which they have not a scrap of legal title.

The Free State authorities have recovered much looted property, but it has not been easy to establish the actual owners thereof, and many looters have converted their ill-gotten gains into cash, with which they have made big purchases of land, etc. Endless lawsuits are promised.

WOMEN SAVAGES LIKE RED BEST

But Men Prefer Blue To Other Colors

MILWAUKEE, May 16.—Savages and women prefer red, F. Ammeller of the Chroma-Klasek Co., told the Junior Advertising council of the Association of Commerce.

Ammeller spoke on color in advertising. He urged advertisers use colors to appeal to the sexes.

Appeal to the men through blue, the women, red, and other warm tones and put red and blue decorations on the baby's rattle.

If you want to drive a man into a rage show him something in pink for himself. He hates it. Pink signifies everything that seems weak.

Cold colors generally appeal to men. Likes and dislikes in colors were revealed through questionnaires sent to 1,000 men and an equal number of women. The percentages were as follows: Men, 11 prefer blue, 22 late yellow; women, 12 favor red; 23 despise blue.

If You Want Wife, Beware College Girls, Says Movie Expert

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—"College trained women should make successful screen actresses, but not successful wives," Erich von Stroheim, noted motion picture producer, declared in an interview printed by a student publication at the University of California.

College education teacher repression and restraint, qualities which, contrary to popular opinion, the successful screen actress of today and of the future must have. But this same education, according to Von Stroheim, gives the college woman graduate too broad an outlook, and too many interests, to make her a successful wife and mother.

"Careers and matrimony seldom successfully mix," Von Stroheim pointed out. "One has only to call the role of the operative, stage and screen, to be convinced of this fact. There are exceptions, but they are rare."

College fits a woman for a career but it does not always fit her for matrimony. It teaches her to be interested in too many matters outside the home. I am in favor of college education for women, but I believe the graduate should sacrifice either the career or matrimony.

"A training course for screen acting a college education seems to be an excellent thing. Most motion picture players overact and exaggerate too much. The screen needs more thought and restraint. If a university education teaches the student to think and to repress, it has taught the first great lesson of the screen acting profession of the future."

Old Ellis Island Tree, Once Gibbet, Felled

NEW YORK, May 16.—For a score of years, almost ever since the federal government took over Ellis island for an immigration station, there has been only one tree standing on the island. Partly because of a sentimental interest in their last tree and partly because of its historic association, succeeding commissioners have spared it as long as time it was threatened by new buildings.

Thursday, however, it was forced to make way. The building of an addition to the detention room for immigration some years ago left it with too little to feed upon and little by little a faded ranger it became a possible source of danger to the immigrant children who were permitted to play near by.

Captain E. T. Tod, one of the old guard, said the old tree was felled on the day when Ellis island was taken over by the federal government. It was the story of the many pirates, outlaws and criminals who were hanged from its limbs. It is recorded that a named gibbs was among the of the culprits hanged from this tree.

The tree was felled by a crew of men, and the trunk was cut into sections for use as fuel.

Inventors Quarrel Over Copyright Of Doyle's Film Fake

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—A to-day Cenan Doyle and associates have been prevented from showing a series of pictures which he describes as "pre-natural" because of a difference as to who originated the act of faking them.

These are the motion pictures of 10,000,000-year-old dinosaurs, tyrannosaurs, triceratops and other gigantic reptiles which the British spiritualist and lecturer termed "pre-natural" to distinguish them from the photographs of ectoplasm, spirit pictures and other manifestations which he describes as "supernatural".

The two types of photographs resemble each other in showing a remarkable thing—a camera can do.

They were "paysse but not a cult" and "pre-natural" but not "supernatural".

This film was to come out last fall but the picture is only half made, because of the conflicting claims as to the invention of this particular method of making the camera see.

The dinosaur bones are far more convincing than the spirit, fairy and ectoplasm photographs put forward by Sir Arthur as the work of honest cameramen, according to persons who have seen them both.

The day after the novelist showed the dinosaurs to the magicians Herbert M. Dawley, a motion picture producer, served notice on Sir Arthur that he regarded the pictures as violations of his copyrights. Sir Arthur insisted the pictures were invented by William O'Brien and that patents were held by Witterson Rothacker, an Englishman.

PERFORMS DUTY EVEN IN DEATH

Trainman Signals Warning, Fatally Hurt

SHAMOKIN, Pa., May 16.—Thomas Fitting, a Reading railway trainman, was crossing his train on a heavy grade near Locustdale. The bottom of a steel hopper car loaded with coal suddenly gave way. The trainman fell through the opening to the tracks, where he lay, caught in the falling mass, on one of the rails.

One arm from Fitting's hand fast to his lantern. A second later the engine, looking back, saw a light waving and brought the train to a sharp stop. The crew went back and found Fitting dying.

Fitting's arm had been cut off at the shoulder and a leg at the hip. That happened in the second after he had performed his last railroad duty, signaling with his own life at stake. He died soon after being taken to a hospital.

Ho! Ho! Flappers To Wear 'King Tut' Hip Pocket Flasks

CHICAGO, May 16.—King Tut pocket flasks are the latest thing developed in the world-wide craze for Egyptian relics. P. I. Coffey, a manufacturing jeweler of Newark, told the powder here.

"What would old King Tut think," said Coffey, "if he awoke from his sleep of 35 centuries and learned that flasks merely engraved with his portrait and hieroglyphic signature and filled with moonshine and other period liquor were being carried on the hip by our people? There are of sterling silver and the 'tomb motif' in ornamentation is bizarrely attractive as wedding gifts."

Anklets and amulets, Coffey said, were coming into vogue as a result of the Egyptian fad.

"Don't be surprised," he said, "if you see a flapper on the avenue with gold, silver or white-gold circles studded about her ankles. They are wearing them in Paris and London and they will soon be on this side of the water."

"Egyptians of TutAnkh Amen's time knew nothing of diamonds. Their gems were emeralds, sapphires, rubies, carnelian, lapis lazuli, turquoise, onyx, and other translucent stones. These are renewing their hold on the public. Jade is also having a wide vogue."

They were "paysse but not a cult" and "pre-natural" but not "supernatural".

This New Plant
After Tomorrow

Announcing the Opening of Our Produce Department

For weeks, or we might say months, workmen have been busily engaged in the building of Port Arthur's only real cold-storage plant and produce house. We now have seven big cooling rooms and in the future will be well prepared to take care of the increased demands of our Port Arthur trade.

You Are Invited to Inspect Our Plant

On behalf of this entire organization we wish to invite you to come down to our new home in the near future and see the many new and added features of our business. We assure you that we have spared no effort to make this establishment a credit to Port Arthur and so we want you to see and be the judge if we have done a good job of it. Will you accept our invitation and come down in the next few days.

Not only the welcome and other things that you will get when you visit us will be of interest to you, but also it is a wonderful opportunity for you to see the way in which the produce and meats are handled before you purchase them from your grocer. It will show you how clean and sanitary they are handled. This in itself will be convincing of what we are trying to do for you and for Port Arthur.

What It Means to Port Arthur

Port Arthur has long needed an establishment of this kind and realizing this demand and need we have spared no effort to give the people of this city one of the most up-to-date produce houses to be found anywhere. With the installation of seven large new cooling rooms, we will now be in position to furnish the people of Port Arthur with nice clean fresh vegetables and produce.

All of the latest and most up-to-date machinery has been installed in the new building and we are very proud of the fact that we can now say that Port Arthur is no longer dependent upon outside cities for their vegetables and produce supply. Feeling as we do about the realization of these plans, we will be indeed greatly disappointed if you and your friends do not visit the plant in the near future.

Youngsters on Program at Weekly Luncheon

Civitan today lined up to lend their co-operation and assistance in giving Port Arthur's 25th birthday celebration July 4, following an appeal from George M. Sims, superintendent of the city schools, that the club enlist with other organizations in the city for putting the celebration over.

Entertainment for the Civitans at their noon luncheon at the New Lakeview was furnished by three little boys from the literary class at Franklin school, who gave several humorous readings. The boys were Earl Wolford and Woodrow Johnson, both 10 years old, and Rodney Crowder, 11. G. E. Perry, who recently resigned as secretary of the Lions Club on account of leaving the city, made a short address before the Civitans today, expressing his regrets at leaving Port Arthur, and reviewing his club associations while in the city. Perry leaves tonight for Monroe, La.

In the absence of Vernon J. Wistner, president of the club, Leonard Power, vice-president, presided at the luncheon today.

COLLEGE PREXY RIDES TO COURT AFTER RAID

GAMBIER, Ohio, May 16.—William F. Peirce, president of Kenyon college, who rode to court in a patrol wagon with seven of his students following a raid by state prohibition agents on the annual spring prom, declared he had "seen no signs of drinking among the students at the party."

President Peirce reiterated, however, that strict disciplinary measures will be taken in connection with the affair by school authorities. Six of the seven students arrested pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law and paid $100 fines each.

President Peirce was ordered to accompany the students to court when, according to dry agents, he attempted to argue with them. No charge was made against him.

DREAM PREACHER, A WOMAN, GOES TO JAIL

BRITTON, Norway, May 16.—The latest "dream preacher," one Maria Akorblom, has been arrested in Finland, the woman caused such a furor among the working classes that the authorities felt forced to take action. Going from place to place on horseback, with flowing hair, Maria foretold the immediate end of the world. She declared that in view of this to own a house or land, to save money, or do any kind of work, was useless. As a result of her preaching all of her large following of peasants, it is said, have been economically ruined.

SENATE WOULD SPEED TAXATION BILL REPORTS

ASTIN, May 16.—The senate today unanimously adopted a concurrent resolution asking house and senate revenue committees to work together on reporting out taxation bills which seem certain to be agreed upon by the two houses.

$100,000,000 Estate Tangle

The utmost secrecy guards details of the suit filed by Lady Hyde (above) for an accounting of the $100,000,000 estate of the late Earl Z. Lutz, pioneer Chicago merchant. In her suit she names as defendants her brother, Joseph Leiter of Chicago, and her sister, Mrs. Nancy Carter Campbell of Santa Barbara, Cal. Others, high in British royalty, are said to be involved.

SANTA FE ENTRY HERE IS REVIVED

that the visit of Mr. Pettibone and the other railroad men has some relation to the probable event of the line into this port.

High officials of the company who have been in Port Arthur on other occasions are known to have expressed favor to this city as a site for a railway terminal, and in this connection it is recalled that a prominent member of the Santa Fe traffic department declared here once that the company "should have come in here 20 years ago."

Whether the Santa Fe will begin any steps in the future relative to the construction of a line into Port Arthur is not definitely known, but it is understood that this matter would first have to be threshed out before the interstate commerce commission and a permit for the construction granted before the company could begin taking active steps.

The final disposition of the Port Arthur dock case now pending before the interstate commerce commission would also have a material effect on the advent of additional railway lines to this city, it is said. It is the definite argument of the Chamber of Commerce on this connection that if the docks are thrown open to all railroads, such action will have a definite tendency to draw other railway companies here for operation.

BAPTISTS WAGE EVOLUTION WAR

'Must Accept Supernatural,' Says Mullins

KANSAS CITY, May 16.—War on Darwin's theory of evolution and an educational drive to segregate science from religion was started by Baptists in annual convocation here today.

"We must accept the supernatural in religion, and teachers in Baptist schools must explain away that doctrine," President E. Y. Mullins, Louisville, told delegates to the Southern Baptist convention.

Mullins' pronouncement was approved by the convention without opposition.

Mullins denounced scientists who he said are using their "alleged discoveries as tools with which to attack the Christian religion."

"Baptists must that the Darwinian theory of evolution, along with all other scientific theories, be dealt with in a truly scientific manner," he declared.

The Bible is our sufficient and authoritative guide in religion.

"We believe that the Bible's teachings is a necessary condition of service for teachers in our Baptist schools," Mullins was elected president of the convention.

ART CLASS DRAFTS BOY SCOUT PLACARDS

Window cards showing Boy Scouts' jumping activities, prepared by art students at Franklin school, under the direction of Miss Hough, art instructor, are displayed in many Port Arthur stores today.

The placards are a feature in the Scout council's program for collecting the tokens of every Boy Scout in Port Arthur, planning to attend the summer camp, opening in June on Beech Creek, a few miles above Stillers. Scout officials said today.

MAY 15 COLDEST ON RECORD IN GOTHAM

NEW YORK, May 16.—It was the coldest May 15 on record, and six New York morning papers had the headline, "straws laid to show which way the wind blows." Only a few hardy pedestrians dared summer military.

Jack, a Scottish terrier, belonging to Mrs. Charles Rowden of Leamington Spa, England, must be trying to establish a canine motoring record. He has completed his latest tour on trips totalling 8000 miles. He wears goggles at times. Photo shows him in his special seat, equipped with a wind shield. While Mrs. Rowden leaves the car, he stands guard.

STANDARD OIL BONUS

NEW YORK, May 16.—Another of the Standard Oil companies is about to begin its campaign in a profit-sharing plan. It is the Standard Oil company of New York. It declares it will hold a special meeting of stockholders for May 2 to vote on increasing the capital stock from $25,000,000, consisting of 10,000,000 shares, to $50,000,000 or 20,000,000 shares, par value $25.

Current stockholders are asked to issue part of the additional capital stock to employees of the corporation or to employees of a subsidiary.

KIDNAP VICTIMS TAKEN TO HILLS

Hope Wans for Early Release: Captives in Straits

PEKIN, May 16.—Hope for early release of the Americans and other foreigners held prisoner by Chinese bandits disappeared today on receipt of information from Liu Cheng that the captives had been moved to a new camp 25 miles farther from the railway.

Apparently their release is no nearer today than it was on May 6, the day of their capture.

Deep in Mountains

The removal, deeper into the mountains, renders it exceedingly difficult to send in supplies of food and medicine which are needed.

The ministers of the powers disclaim responsibility, declaring that their ultimatum to the Chinese government is not the cause of the bandits' defiant attitude, and that if their pressure were slackened, the government would cease its efforts to obtain release of the captives.

The Liu Cheng affair has practically put a stop to all Chinese government proceedings.

Fears Felt

Fears are felt that the captives will find their handshakes increasing in the new location. It is in a wild, desolate region and probably lacks the facilities for comfort which the original location afforded.

American observers report that the bandit chief sent a message to the ruler of the Hunan legions, asking him to proceed secretly to Shan-

WHAT WOULD THERE BE LEFT TO DO, HUH?

NEW YORK, May 16.—An ordinance just proposed would squeeze half the jiv out of the famous board walk and beach at Coney Island. It would prohibit games, skating, photographers, dogs, one-piece bathing suits, dipping, wading, "mound-building" figures, "boating," fishing. The law would even make it unlawful to "lie in a recumbent position."

Pleasure seekers who spend their summer hours there are wondering if their bows will help defeat the proposal.

Automobile marketing has three factors of equal import.

They are represented in this little figure:

The Owners' Value is the secret of the dealer success, which in turn makes possible the full profit for the manufacturer.

Any element which would be thrust in to disturb this proportion would make some one of the three suffer.

The OWNERS' VALUE is largely determined by the dealer—if he has chosen well his product and his factory. The buyer to be safeguarded must choose the dealer as carefully as the dealer chose a product.

JOSEY-MILLER PRODUCTS HERE

Mixed Feeds Carry Guarantees Says Manager

The history of the Josey-Miller Grain Co. of Beaumont is merely the history of the development of the entire Sabine district. Starting with a small capital of only a few thousand dollars several years ago they have today grown to be one of the largest of the largest of the entire southeast Texas district.

Their products Kow-Kud and Jo-Mil and Shur-kackie are handled and distributed in Port Arthur by the Port Arthur Grain Co.

"The success of this organization and Manager Chinsky, is due to the effort we have made and are still making in giving honest value in the way of stock and poultry feeds and living up to what we claim for our products. We don't advertise these feeds will do something which we know they will not. We make certain claims for them and these claims we are ready to back up. In the past 20 years the results have been very gratifying and our business has developed to such an extent that now we cover all sections of South and West Texas and West Louisiana."

The Josey-Miller Co. are pioneers in the mixed feed business and in the past decade they have spent much time and effort to develop a concentrated ration feed for dairy cows that would produce the most milk under the feeding conditions of South and East Texas. The results of these experiments are their best known brands, Kow-Kud and Shur-kackie and Jo-Mil. Jo-Mil is a steam cooked corn and wheat feed with a base of rolled oats, for horses and mules. Shur-kackie is a chicken feed.

Another of their products is corn meal and grits, both of which are ground daily from fresh white corn.

MYLES SALT MINES ON WEEKS ISLAND

John V. Farwell of Chicago is assured of reelection as a member of the Yale Corporation next month, four other prospective candidates having withdrawn, according to the Yale commencement program, made public today. The eligible candidates for election who have withdrawn are Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania; Alfred E. Aiken of Boston, Geo. E. Thompson of New Haven and Harry E. Ward of New York.

EGG MISSED FOSTER

NEW YORK, May 16.—A lone egg that snattered in through an open window of the Flying Fame cafeteria, nearly broke up a meeting of the Columbia Socialist party Wednesday while William Z. Foster, radical labor leader, was speaking on "militant unionism." The egg made its entry just as Foster declared "democracy is a sham and a mockery while present conditions exist in the socialist industry." It hit a woman.

Parents of Miracle Babe Spurn Movies

MASON CITY, Iowa, May 16.—Many inquiries from motion picture concerns seeking to use 13-month-old Zentor, who within 5 minutes of his birth six months ago, uttered the word "mother" three times, have been received and rejected by the baby's parents.

"Daddy" and "mamma" are now the extent of the child's vocabulary, but he has developed unusually in other respects. At two months he was able to sit up alone and now he is taking his first steps. Physicians declare physically and mentally he is the equal of many two-year-olds.

Euthanasia of "mother" is considered for by two nuns, two Catholic sisters and Dr. J. B. Mark, who were present at the time.

He's Not Peeved at Refusal of Champ Dishwasher to Wed

WASHINGTON, May 16.—One would hardly think Miss Susie Hotchkiss' championship ambition for washing dishes 24 hours without pause would appeal most to an artistic decorator, but it is.

George C. Taylor, 35, of that profession, was so smitten with the feat that he immediately sent when Miss Hotchkiss considered a proposal and he is quite willing to let it stand for that. He told his reasons:

"I said in my letter that a woman who stuck to a dishpan that long would certainly stick to a good man. It doesn't matter now how she does it, because she didn't answer the letter. The exact reason why I wrote was that I wanted to compliment her. If I had heard from her—well, but I'm not a heart breaker, you know. "I would have more respect for a woman of that kind than I would for all of the painted dolls. A good woman is a necessity, a painted doll is a luxury. A painted doll is a good deal like an automobile. Pretty near everyone can own one, but very few can keep them."

ABANDON SEARCH FOR MISSING STUDENT

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., May 15.—Search for Ellis A. Soderholm, 20-year-old forestry student who disappeared into the mountains west of Monument, was discontinued today when it was declared by forestry officials that further quest was almost impossible because of the rugged fastness of the region.

Soderholm was last seen Tuesday morning when he left the forest ranger's station for a short walk before breakfast. Suicide is one of the strongest theories held by authorities for the disappearance, as Soderholm was in ill health.

Congratulations

We extend our most hearty congratulations to The Port Arthur Grain Co., and to you Mr. Kavanaugh, as being a man who is keeping step with the rapid development of our city. Not only building for the immediate needs of the town but having farsightedness enough to build for years to come. Port Arthur has long needed such an establishment as you are opening and it behooves every man to give you a hearty hand clasp and co-operate with your establishment in every way possible. ## YORK MACHINE KEEPS IT COOL

Refrigeration Machine
Keeps It Like North Pole

When W. A. Kavanaugh, manager of the Port Arthur Grain Co. decided to enlarge his plant on Houston avenue there was little doubt in his mind as to the type and make of refrigerating machine that he intended using.

"The New York Engineering and Supply Co. manufacture the very latest in the way of refrigerating machinery," said Kavanaugh. "There was nothing I could buy or have made that would exceed in efficiency the machinery they make. In fact, it was just what I had to have."

"The New York machinery is so situated that it generates perfectly for the new and enlarged plant, taking care of the additional cold storage rooms where are stored hundred of pounds of meats and in fact all sorts of food stuffs that must be kept at a certain temperature."

A view of these cold storage rooms shows the pipes covered with snow several inches thick and at times this must be scraped off in order that it will not withhold the frigid atmosphere.

The York Machinery Co., while a subsidiary of the company by the same name of York, Pa., is a Texas corporation and handles 50 per cent of the refrigerating business of the United States. In Houston they carry a complete stock of machinery, ammonia apparatus and cork insulation and have a shop where they make sealed coils, brine tubes and other apparatus needed for ice plants and cold storage rooms.

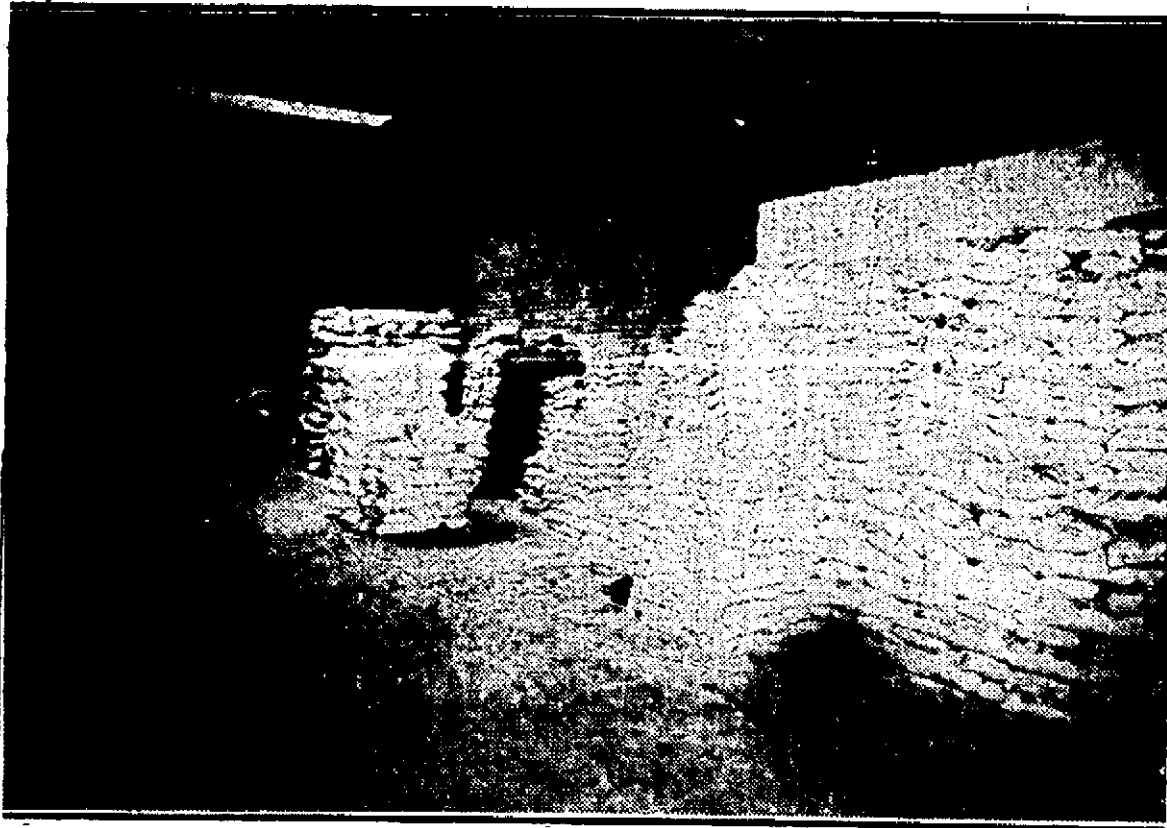

The main offices and shops are located at Houston, with branches in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth and New Orleans. The factory employs thousands of men and has buildings covering many city blocks. Branch service stations are located in all the principal cities and each service station has its own corps of engineers, sales heads and erectors. York machines are installed in the Port Arthur Ice and Refrigerating Co. and at the city abattoir while in Beaumont several companies have installed York machines in the past few years.

BRITISH FAVOR LARGE AIR FORCE INCREASE

LONDON, May 16.—The Duke of Devonshire told the House of Lords today that the cabinet believed a considerable increase in the British air forces necessary.

The duke was replying to Lord Birkenhead, who based a demand for a one-power standard in the air on the enormous superiority of the French air force. He declared the nation could not be content with such superiority in any country, however friendly that country might be. He assured the lords the government would endeavor to carry out any recommendations made by the committee now investigating the subject.

Tailor-Made Noses Latest Fad for Elite

ATLANTIC CITY, May 16.—Instead of getting its noses ready to wear and having to struggle along with them through life, however, they may fit, the human face can now have its noses custom-built and tailored to measure.

It has been several years since the last previous shock.

SAYS BIBLES MORE WIDELY ACCEPTED

NEW YORK, May 16.—"Whatever decisions may come in the affairs of men and of human society, the Bible remains the book of books," President Harding wrote to the Rev. William L. Haven, in regretting his inability to attend the annual meeting of the American Bible society at the home of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, in Oyster bay. The letter was made public by the society.

"The Bible," the president continued, "is winning constantly wider acceptance among men wherever they live as the inspired vehicle of the greatest truths that have been revealed to the world."

The whole floor of the Pacific Ocean is sinking, according to an American scientist.

HARDING TO SET SAIL ON JULY 5

Transport to Carry Him to Alaska—Problem Topics

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Harding will go to Alaska aboard the army transport Henderson sailing from Seattle July 5, Secretary of the Navy Denby announced today. A previous announcement said the party would sail from Portland, Oregon.

The Henderson has been ordered to leave for the Pacific coast June 1. On his return from Alaska, if Mr. Harding decides to return to Washington by water he will board a shiping board vessel at Seattle.

Speech Tour
Beginning at St. Louis, where Mr. Harding expects to discuss the world court on June 22, the president's speaking program will probably end at San Diego after his return from Alaska.

While it is still unsettled, he may return by water through the Panama canal.

The speech on Alaska, its problems and his policies for the future of the territory will be made at Seattle.

Tentative Schedule
Other cities on the tentative schedule and the subject of addresses:

Kansas City, transportation—rail and water, June 23; Hutchinson, Kansas, agriculture, June 24; Denver, business prosperity, June 25; Salt Lake City, democratic issues, such as taxes and tariff, June 26; Boise, Idaho, or Helena, Mont., western problems such as irrigation and reclamation, June 27; Portland, Oregon, patriotism and law enforcement, July.

Problems President Harding will study on his Alaskan trip were announced today in a statement issued by the interior department with the president's approval. They include:

Whether a single department shall be given jurisdiction over Alaska to existing conflicts in jurisdiction.

Federal Aid For Alaska
A colonization of immigration plan to increase the territory's population.

Formation of a corps of trained men with headquarters in Alaska to report on its mineral resources.

Advisability of building speakers and branch lines of the Alaskan railroad to open up more country.

More liberal appropriations for road building in the interior. Checking of exploitation of the fishing industry now threatened with destruction.

Whether the government is to eliminate the dangers of navigation along the coast by providing lighthouses.

Protection of seals.

Consolidation of law enforcement agencies under the department of justice.

Aged Statute Breaker

ROME, Ga., May 16.—The Rome Ministerial association has been called by Judge J. W. Nunnally to assist in passing on the case of Will Martin, aged violator of the state laws.

According to Judge Nunnally, Martin is 70 years old and has spent 10 years of the last twenty-five on the chain-gang without having benefited in the least.

The judge admits frankly that he's at the end of his row, and doesn't know what to do.

Martin's most recent offense, for which he was convicted, was for violating the state liquor laws and receiving stolen chickens.

"It's up to the Ministerial association. If they say state farm it will be, if they say chain-gang, there is where he will go. If they say turn him loose—I'm going to do that," the judge declared.

OBJECT LESSON TO SPEEDERS

Little victims, with twisted forms and shattered limbs, face speeders in Judge Walker's court in Chicago. They silently protest against "moonshine madness," as applied to drivers whose only thought is speed.

BUNCO BABY FAILS TO FOOL HOOCH HOUNDS

ATLANTA, Ga., May 16.—A nose trained to the scenting of sniffs of a smoky nature, made famous by Bob by Burns, the Haigs, the Lawsons, et al., caused the undoing of an enterprising and imaginative rum runner near here.

This worthy had a scheme, regarded as "fool proof" by the elite of the rum-runners. But his little scheme failed to take into consideration the keen noses of officers.

"Is precious babykins cold?" almost whispered the girl in the front seat of the speeding car as they flew past the officers.

Then came the smoky smell. Then a chase.

A search that revealed eleven cases of liquor—good liquor—stacked in the back seat of the automobile.

The baby was a bundle of cloth—a veritable rag doll—that the woman tossed disgustedly to the side of the road as the officers accompanied the couple to jail.

DENTON WIND STORM LOSS SET AT $100,000

DENTON, Texas, May 16.—Property and crop damage estimated today at approximately $100,000 was caused by the storm which struck the county late Monday, tearing down one residence and wrecking many out-houses.

SCATTER ASHES ON OCEAN

NEW YORK, May 16.—The ashes of Park Benjamin will be taken on board the President Wilson sailing for Mediterranean ports Thursday.

to be scattered in mid-ocean. The disposal of the ashes in this manner is in accordance with a verbal wish of Mr. Benjamin shortly before his death.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank the Port Arthur Red Cross Chapter, the United Charities, and our many friends and neighbors for their kindnesses and sympathy rendered us during the illness and death of our daughter, Mrs. S. S. Jeffingwell, Mrs. A. J. Meas, Fred Reiske, Alma Reiske.

GEORGETOWN MAN IS KILLED BY DYNAMITE

GEORGETOWN, May 16.—Will P. Ford, widely known contractor, was killed while working on a bridge being constructed over the San Bernand river late yesterday when a blast of powder exploded before he could reach safety.

Lewis President Pro Tem of Texas Senate

AUSTIN, May 16.—Senator H. L. Lewis, of Navasota, was elected president pro tem of the senate for the second year. For the first time in recent years there were two senators nominated for the office.

SUITS FILED

BEAUMONT, Texas, May 16.—The following suits were filed in the 60th district court here today:

Fannie Riley vs. Tom Riley, divorce.

Angie Huges vs. M. Huges, divorce.

Cola Challie vs. Cecilia Challie, divorce.

Hypolite Lannolin vs. Theresa Lannolin.

The following suits were filed in the 58th district court:

Eras Sutton vs. Mary Sutton, divorce.

Evelyn Hawk vs. Charles Hawk, divorce.

Mary Mazza vs. Ben Mazza, divorce.

THE COURT GRANTED STATE MOTION FOR REHEARING AND AFFIRMED THE FIVE-YEAR SENTENCE OF SCOTTY FERGUSON, LIMESTONE COUNTY, FOR THE SHOOTING OF C. C. GIBSON.

Application of Edwin Burkhardt, Fort Worth, for habeas corpus writ releasing him from custody as a delinquent child, was denied.

Northwestern U. Prexy Offers $10,000 Reward

CHICAGO, May 16.—Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, today offered a reward of $10,000 to anyone who will solve the mysterious disappearance and death of Leighton Mount.

Mount, a freshman, was last seen alive during a class rush in September 1921, and his body was found under a Lake Michigan pier 13 months later. Officials charged a "conspiracy of silence" prevented them from obtaining the facts.

Hot Springs, Ark., May 16.—

The entire population turned today and aided officials in clearing the ruins caused by the disastrous flood and fire which swept Hot Springs Monday night.

A mountain of debris, scattered about the main streets and piled high above doorways was being removed by volunteers who worked throughout the night restoring this famous summer resort.

No Flood Insurance

The city was still without electric lights but it was hoped to restore the service today.

Estimates made by the city engineering department placed the total property loss from the devastating storm at approximately $2,000,000. Very little of it was covered by flood insurance.

A company of the national guard patrolled the storm swept district today to protect property.

Bathhouse Now Saved

Not a life was lost from flood or fire, a complete checkup today showed.

Although the waters reached a height of ten feet along Central Avenue in the main thoroughfare, the famous "Bathhouse row" on the government reservation on the east side of the street, was untouched.

Gaines Must Die For Murder of Dallas Man; Appeal Denied

AUSTIN, May 16.—Rehearing was denied C. E. Gaines, by the criminal appeals court, whose death penalty for murder of G. W. Street, at Dallas, in January, 1921, has been affirmed.

The court reversed and remanded the 99-year sentence of Ed Walker and 60-year sentence of Howard and W. W. Wilman, Hainilton, convicted for murder of Jack McCurdy, whose body was placed on a railroad track and mutilated.

Charge of the trial court to the jury was found defective by the appellate court.

The court granted state motion for rehearing and affirmed the five-year sentence of Scotty Ferguson, Limestone county, for the shooting of C. C. Gibson.

Application of Edwin Burkhardt, Fort Worth, for habeas corpus writ releasing him from custody as a delinquent child, was denied.

A HELPING HAND

(Copyright, 1923, by the Houston Post. Published by arrangement with The Wheeler Syndicate.)

A Houston young man has been paying devoted attention for a long time to one of the fairest maidens on Prairie avenue. He was quite slow about declaring himself, and one night she hinted that her parents were beginning to object to her receiving his attentions.

It is human nature for a man to want anything all the harder when he finds that it is difficult to obtain, so the young man made up his mind in a flash that this was the only girl in the world for him. He proposed, was snubbed up, and she laid her head coyly against three ten-cent cigars in his vest pocket.

Becoming truly alarmed about obtaining his treasure now that he seemed to have been rejected, he suggested an immediate elopement. But she hesitated for a long time, and finally consented and the next night was set for the deed. About twelve o'clock when everything was still the young man stood with anxiously beating heart beneath his loved one's window.

He had provided a carriage, which was waiting around the corner and a rope ladder down which she climbed with sundry little mouse-like squeaks and squeals. At last she descended in safety and the young man clasped her in his arms.

"At last, dearest," he said, "you are mine at last. Come quickly and we will fly from the power of your heartless parents. Good heavens! What is that?"

He saw something in fluttering white bearing a heavy burden coming around the corner of the house.

"Don't be afraid, George," said his loved one, calmly. "It's only papa bringing down my trunk."

THE OLD FARM

Just now when the whitening blossoms flare,

On the apple trees, and the growing grass,

Creeps forth, and a bat is in the air;

With my lighted pipe and well filled glass,

Of the old farm I am dreaming.

And softly smiling, seeming

To see the bright sun beaming

Upon the old home farm.

And when I think how we milked

The cows,

And hauled the hay from the meadow

Our way,

And walked the furrows behind the plows,

And chopped the cotton to make it grow,

I'd much rather be here dreaming.

And, smiling, only seeming

To see that hot sun beaming

Upon the old home farm.

No wonder Europe has such a hard time. A tourist tells us they are all foreigners over there.

Hope the weather man gets wet when he says fair and it rains.

Chinese are much better at fleeing than at fighting, even dressing with shirt tails already out.

Wish all people practicing on cornets would move next door to all people practicing on trombones.

Dr. Copeland says eat less sugar and live longer. Sugar price boosters will pose as benefactors.

Hope the laundryman's own shirts get torn up in the wash.

Florida man who said he stole to travel has gone on a long trip to the penitentiary.

The first of every month we always hope our postman has a million bills addressed to him.

In Washington, 195 quarts of booze evidence are gone. Nobody knows if it went before congress.

Aviators may soon get so they can go some place about as quick as they can stay where they are.

Our idea of fun is a telephone girl calling up a friend and being given the wrong number.

Spring's evil is finding a way to carry all the truck you had in your pockets last winter.

Nothing makes us happier than seeing a shoe clerk buy a pair of shoes that hurt his feet.

Children are small people not at tempted to act like their parents did at that age.

Wish wagons went past the milk-man's home every morning, waking him an hour before time.

Mountain pens are long, slender instruments you shake to smother ink every creative.

When a man is a man whose elementary is in his own shoes.

YOUR ANCESTORS

The men who make a business of tracing family trees (genealogists) report that they are in work to their ears. The war started an epidemic of interest in ancestors, especially among new millionaires. The same curiosity is found to be greatly stimulated among what the bromidic orators call "the rank and file of the people."

A very good thing, to know where we originally came from, though scientists claim that all of us—if we trace back far enough—will find ancestors who'd be kept in the zoo today.

Americans seem to have an aversion to pedigrees of people, though intensely interested in the lineage of livestock, dogs, cats, race horses and machinery.

This is natural, since our national attitude is that what really counts is what you are today, not what you were yesterday or your ancestors in the past. A man, stands on his own legs, not some one else's, in democracy.

However, each of us is the result of a long stream of generations of toiling people whose foremost motive was to produce a child better in character and more successful than its parents.

We owe it to our toiling ancestors to give them at least passing curiosity.

Intensely interesting is tracking back to your family tree. Nothing beats it as an enjoyable diversion. If you want to start, the local library can tell you how to go about it. Try to find out something about the man and woman of several centuries ago, from whom you were descended. In most cases, it's difficult work.

In tracing your family tree, you'll run into surprises. And most people will find family skeletons that they will not care to circulate. For instance, many of the early settlers of America were fugitives from European courts, though some of their descendants claim blue blood.

A friend of ours stopped his researches when he traced himself back to a man who was recorded by pen and ink in these words:

"May 15, 1652—Resolved, by the Amsterdam, Holland, chamber of the West India Company, that Adrian J.—a pilot of the ship, the Court of Cleef, be not molested for having accidentally shot his captain in 1649."

Adrian's blood, by the way, flows today in several of the leading society families of New York City.

The early records of Americans are rapidly disappearing, buried by time like everything else. If you want to leave a family tree for your descendants, better get busy.

RADIO NIGHTHAWK

The Kansas City Nighthawks now have 35,000 members among radio fans all over the United States and Canada.

The Nighthawks broadcast a radio concert from Kansas City after midnight. Between jazz numbers of the Coon-Sanders orchestra, the announcer reads telegrams from out-of-town radio bugs who are "listening in." The reading of these telegrams makes the senders members of the Nighthawks. The ceremony is completed by "the professor," in charge of the band, ringing them up on a gong.

This announcer in Kansas City has a better line of " patter" than any of the old-time minstrel show interlocutors. Chicago has a similar concert-broadcasting outfit—the Sun Dodgers.

There's something almost uncanny in sitting up late at night, when concerts come in clearest because there are fewer stations sending, and by a few slight dial changes shifting from one distant concert to another.

It's like pulling teeth, for a radio bug to shut off the juice and go to bed. For radio has a peculiar lure, unlike anything else. This lure is in the fact that radio eliminates distance and carries the listener hundreds of thousands of miles in a twinkling.

Radio breathes the Magic Carpet in the "Arabian Nights."

Recently we were "listening in" on a concert from Minneapolis. The usual telegrams were read, between musical selections, from radio enthusiasts. Then came one from an Indiana woman. She wanted to get word to her brother somewhere in the northern woods, that father was dead. We wondered whether the brother heard the announcer read the telegram, or whether some friend heard and passed the word along.

The incident had a dramatic touch that is seldom equaled on the stage or in the movies. And it flashed through the night air with all the unexpectedness that is characteristic of radio.

We hear the joy-killers occasionally commenting about the great amount of time wasted by radio fans. They have the wrong slant.

The time devoted to listening is not wasted. The music that rushes in from far off is of secondary importance to the listener. His real interest is in the marvel of transmission. In this sense radio is awakening a scientific sense that will be indispensable to people who want to keep up with the times from now on.

Incidentally, radio is going to help enforce prohibition. You can't imagine a dyed-in-the-wool radio bug drinking bootleg in some dirty back room making home-brew in the cellar, while concerts are waiting to be heard. Outfits like the Kansas City Nighthawks and the Chicago Sun Dodgers are embryonic scientific organizations that incidentally are keeping a lot of people out of mischief.

YOUR MIRROR

To make our homes artistic and in good taste, we should buy the furnishings we like best, instead of letting ourselves be guided altogether by so-called experts and prevailing styles.

This bit of advice comes from Paul Theodore Frankl, interior decorator and consulting expert for the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

His general idea is that we should express our real selves even in our furniture. For instance, frail people naturally "take to" frail furniture, and that's what they should buy.

A red-blooded family, full of life and built robustly, "takes" furnishings comfortable and substantial. They should buy what they want.

Home is our stage setting. It should harmonize with us. Frankl's idea, of course, can be carried too far. If everybody bought what they wanted, without consulting experts and prevailing styles, many homes would be monstrosities.

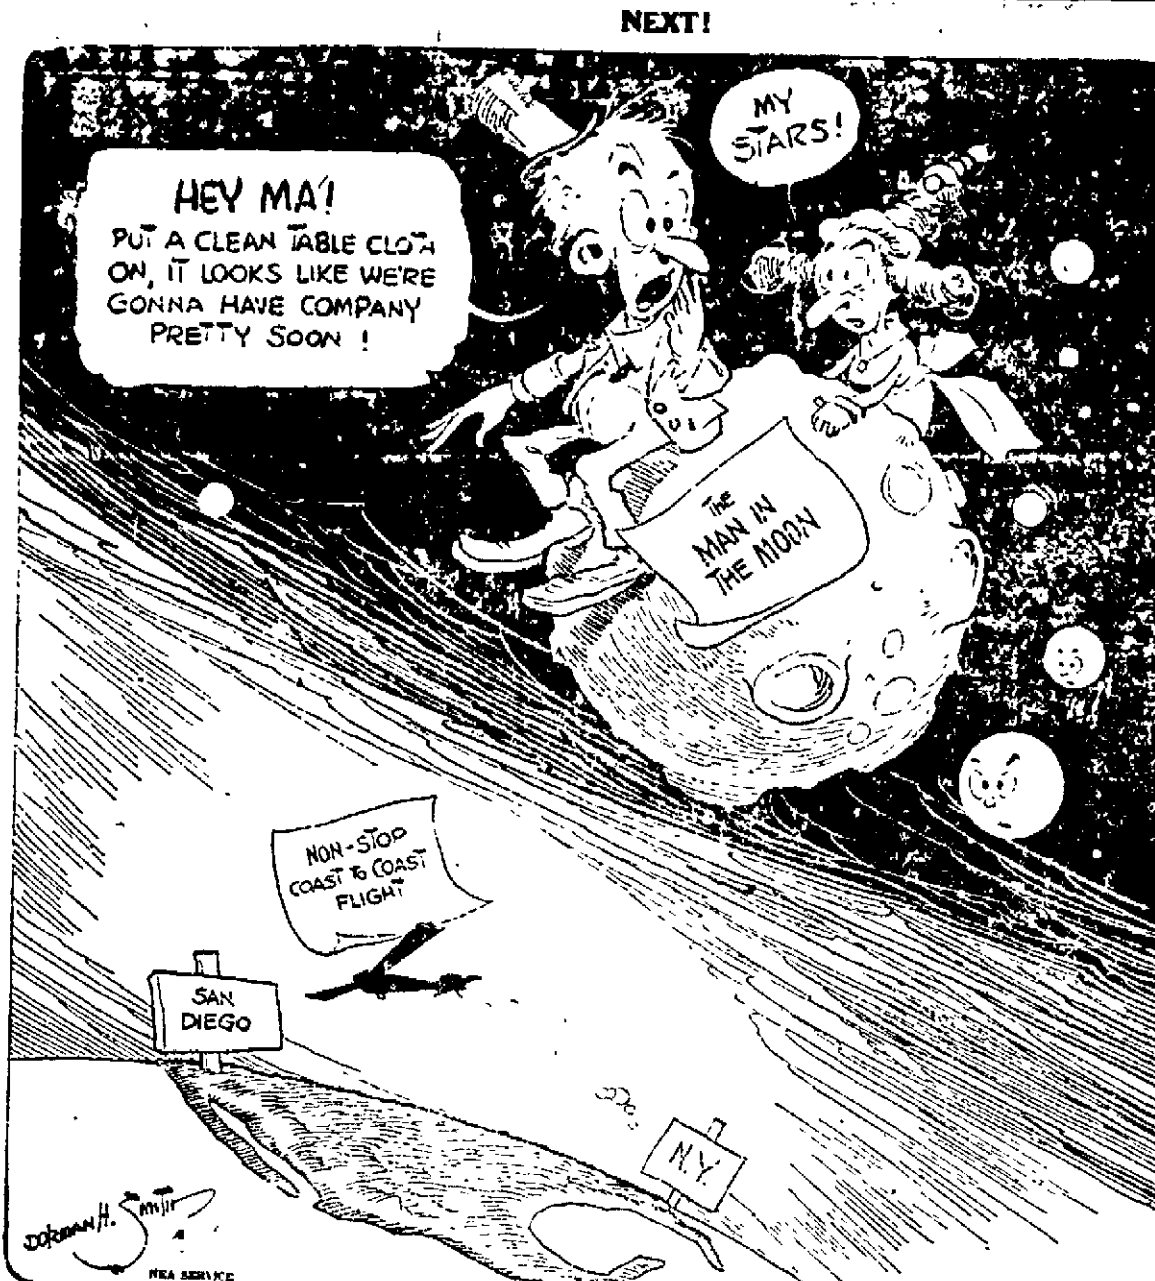

But, says Frankl, if they want something incorrect let them have it. If it isn't really suited to their type, they won't like it, and they'll do better the next time they buy.

The safe course for the average person is to strike a happy medium—get posted on what's what, seek all the authoritative advice possible, but not buy anything unless he really likes it.

We express our real selves in everything we do. In this field, home furnishing has no monopoly.

We dress as we think. Slovenly dress reflects a slovenly mind, the same as a messed-up workbench reflects a messed-up brain in the head of the man using the bench.

Like attracts like. Human nature, like water, seeks its own level. This material thing called life is, in all its phases, merely a manifestation or mirror of the inner self.

CONTINUING OF LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO SALLY AYERTON

I don't think you will be surprised, Sally dear, when I tell you that because of your letter and Leslie's letter I refused a proposal of marriage to the man who took me motoring yesterday.

I told him I was not yet sure that we loved each other enough. Of course he protested that he loved me enough and that he would make me love him. Men are so sure of their ability in this direction.

As I could not explain to him that two of my friends had just come to me with very perplexing and disquieting experiences in married life, which made me "stop, look and listen," he finally let the matter rest by saying that in a few months he would ask me again.

I hope by the time you receive this letter, dear Sally, that things will have smoothed out for you. I believe most thoroughly if you could adjust yourself to Sam, so that you could be good friends with him, things would straighten out.

I don't believe, Sally dear, that you and Sam have ever been good friends. All your letters and what you have told me led me to think this.

A man and woman, you know, can love each other devotedly and never have an idea of real comradeship.

Sam, I presume, just now is in a receptive mood—at least I should think he would be—and if you are very good to him, if he sees that you are the one that he can turn to under any circumstances, I am sure if he does, presently his eyesight will be more ready to take advice from you.

He must know how dependent he is upon you.

However, my dear Sally, don't reproach him now. Nothing you could say would be as hard as the things he is probably saying to himself. What he wants now is sympathy and petting and a little pity for "men are only boys grown to it, you know," and the most successful wife is the one whose love for her husband has a great deal of the maternal in it.

Be very sure, however, to tell him—in a perfectly innocent way without any comment whatever—exactly what his boss said, not forgetting his criticism of Sam.

Then, when he contrasts that with your kindness and sweetness and devotion, he may come to a right decision. For you know Sam is always a gentleman, whatever foolishness he may get himself into.

I was rather amused as well as saddened by the closing paragraphs of both your letters. You each seemed to think that the other must be perfectly happy. That to the other all her dreams had come true while Fate had sent you the rosemary and rue of life.

I hope you are old-fashioned enough to have read and remembered your Longfellow. Anyway I will remind you:

"Into each life some rain must fall. Some days must be dark and dreary."

Love, BEE.

RUSS-BRITISH WAR FORECAST

Soviet Trade Emissary Sees Trade Rupture

LONDON, May 16.—Prediction that rupture of the existing trade agreement between England and Russia would probably result in war within a year was made by Leonid Krassin, Russian emissary in an interview here today.

The trade agreement is now threatened in the sharp exchange of notes between the British and Soviet governments.

In the first note, which brought on the present strained relations between London and Moscow, Lord Curzon pointedly declared that the agreement would be cancelled until the Soviet ceased anti-British propaganda in the East.

"Rupture of the Anglo-Russian agreement will result in war within a year," Krassin declared today. "With cancellation of the agreement the entente would revert to its old tactics of stirring up border states, such as Poland and Rumania, to interfere in Russian affairs and this would probably lead to a clash."

Pastors' Resolution Voices Sorrow At Death of Potec

Voicing their sorrow over the death of Commissioner A. A. Potec, and expressing sympathy for his relatives, members of the Port Arthur Ministerial Association adopted the following resolutions at their meeting Tuesday:

Whereas, the hand of fate fell so suddenly and ruthlessly carried from our midst an esteemed fellow citizen and official of our city, A. A. Potec, and

Whereas, the entire city feels keenly its loss in this conscientious public servant; therefore, be it

Resolved, 1st, That we, the members of the Port Arthur Ministerial Association express our personal and collective grief for the untimely death of this fellow citizen, and be it

Resolved 2nd, That we express to the City of Port Arthur as a whole our sincere regret at the loss of a so efficient and faithful official; be it

Resolved 3rd, That we extend to the bereaved relatives our deepest sympathy, and we pray that God's sunlight may break through the clouds and drive away the shadows, and that His peace may come into the hearts that are torn by such tragic grief; be it

Resolved 4th, That a copy of these resolutions be given to the bereaved family, and a copy be given to the bereaved mother and little daughter.

Signed,
R. C. GOENS, Sec'y,
Port Arthur Ministerial Association.

BIG KAVANAUGH PLANT TO OPEN

in the nature of exhibiting products handled by the company, much of the freight being prepaid for the packing by the packing houses and other wholesalers whose products are distributed by the local house.

The new building of the Port Arthur Grain company is located on a plot of ground 100 by 110 feet, giving 11,000 square feet of floor space to house the increased merchandise and cold storage plant.

The grain company was organized in 1910 and occupied a frame structure adjacent to the present new location site. In 1916 the frame building was replaced with a modern structure of brick and concrete. Now comes the new and more commodious quarters.

From a business conducted by three or four employees who handled both retail and wholesale trade, the business has increased to where it now requires a corps of officials supervising twenty employees and salesmen.

Seven large cooling rooms sufficient to care for 100,000 pounds of meats, cheese and other cold storage products, and an entire new produce department have been added. Henceforth the company will handle all kinds of fruits and vegetables. The storage rooms will accommodate twelve carloads of commodities.

Beside the substantial old line business of grain, hay and flour, the company has enlarged to where it now handles wholesale grocery sundries including rice, lard, cakes, crackers, salt, beverages, etc., in addition to the storage and refrigerating facilities.

Walter Kavanaugh came to Port Arthur in 1918 and took charge of the business as vice president and general manager. It then was about an $8,000 a month concern. Today, it is nearer a $20,000 a month business, he states, and with the new departments and facilities is expected to reach even greater proportions.

Before coming to Port Arthur, Mr. Kavanaugh was connected with the Armstrong Packing company at Dallas. He entered employ of that concern directly after leaving school as office boy. When he left 15 years later, he was sales-manager with supervision over 42 salesmen.

SWALLOW WATCH
LA PORTE, Ind., May 16.—Miss Mary Grzesak, while at work in a factory here, swallowed her watch which had put in her mouth for safe-keeping while she watched. A physician advises her it would not injure her and she is at work, apparently none the worse for her experience.

Gulfies Win From Islanders and Take City League Lead

Brannon and Karnaky Stage Airtight Tangle, But Errors Cost Skipper Gardner's Protes Another Clash as Gulf Cops Game.

By BILL ARCHER

GULF butters hit at the opportune time yesterday, and while the Island crew was miffing the ball and messing up neat plays, the league leaders jumped a row ahead by scalping Skipper Gardner's proteges and winning another game, 4 to 1.

The game was decidedly devoid of exciting turns. Both clubs played a loose issue, and the support rendered the Island south-south artist, Karnaky, was decidedly weak, resulting in a sum total of four errors, all of which were costly in the main.

The Gulfies sewed up the contest in the last of the third, when three runs crossed the counting rubber, two as earned and one on an error, when Thomas dropped a pretty one out to his section of the field in right.

The Gulfies increased their lead in the City League standing as an outcome of the game, and broke the tie between themselves and Skipper Hill's boys. The result also puts Brannon wondering what the next upturn will be in the games to follow this week.

A loss for the Citizens this week and another win for the Gulf will put the latter in a big stride ahead, with a double win for both teams will leave them knotted for leadership.

Likewise, the possibilities of the Texas come in strong. If the Texas boys win a couple this week, and the Citizens and Gulf both drop a game, the League directorship will be placed in the hands of new authorities altogether.

The feature attraction of the clash on Lakeshore yesterday was the playing of Darden at third for the Gulf and Wagner at first for the same crew, while Karnaky, Montgomery and Black were standing out prominently for the Islanders.

Darden stubbed impossible chances and robbed Island batters of opportunities of becoming base-runners when it seemed to one could have sacked the pill. Montgomery put in his initial appearance in left field for the Island, and looks good. The new player got under one during the game that made him show up in good form for his team.

Cliff Gunn, skipper of the Port Arthur Elks, made his debut in the City League with the Islanders, and won the round without mishap. Cliff misjudged a high one during the issue that fell far over his head, but it is extremely doubtful whether the ball could have been fielded, due to the long flight it took on the club.

Karnaky and Brannon concluded a battle of their own from the pitcher's mound, the former holding the Gulfies to four hits, while the latter dropped the Island boys with only two. And these two were considerably scattered, one being handed out in the opening round, while the other brought in the Island tally in the fourth, after Karnaky had gained first, second and third when Smith muffed a fly to left.

The rest of the way, Brannon delivered a queer, twisting knuckle ball that his opponents failed to solve, while his colleagues were collecting a run in the second and three in the third for the win.

Wagner drew down the first score of the argument when he crossed home plate while Giannetti was miffing one up.

Flagg led the fireworks in the third stanza, and was permitted to walk. Trauth went to first on an error when Black allowed a ball hurled from Karnaky to pass on through his line. Flagg also had gone to second on a blocked ball bounded home on the play. Trauth scored on Smith's double, Culver walked, Wagner connected and Thomas dropped the ball. Smith scoring on the play. Fuller went out at first and Darden finished the tally-making with a single bringing in Culver. Calenhead struck out, and Brannon went out at first, retiring the side.

For two stanzas, Brannon held his opponents to "three up and three down," and executed the same trick in the fifth.

Famous Jockey Had Romantic Start On New Orleans Track

NEW ORLEANS, May 16.—A joking remark resulted in the thoroughbred turf obtaining one of its greatest riders.

Four years ago at New Orleans, the employer of Johnny Corcoran gave the boy a suit and hat for Christmas. As Johnny's boss put the hat on the boy's head he remarked:

"Why you look just like a jockey."

That remark gave the boy an idea. He would be a jockey.

He went to the fair grounds at New Orleans and galloped a few horses.

There he met Al Kirby, Kentucky horseman, who saw how earnestly the boy tried while astride horses.

He took the kid in hand, told him of the hard, heart-rending life of a rider before he could be given mounts in a real race and all that which the jockey of today knows so well.

But the boy never wined. Kirby liked his spunk.

Soon Kirby realized the boy had the making of a great rider. Then, instead of rushing him as most trainers do, he put the lad through the stiffest kind of training.

And on the opening day of the Louisiana fall meeting of 1922, Kirby gave the boy his first mount—in a Cho Cho, a mare which the public would make favorite.

But the stewards at Louisiana refused to permit the boy to ride, so Kirby refused to permit the boy to ride.

FIRPO HAS NOT SIGNED UP YET

Gotham Believes Giant Will Meet Jess July 7

NEW YORK, May 16.—Another one of his "battles of the century" series has been virtually clinched by Tex Rickard, Jess Willard has signed a contract to meet Louis Firpo and the South American giant is expected to sign today.

The date and the place have not been decided upon, but the two mammoth bouts will get together in the Yankee Stadium on the afternoon of July 7. In compliance with the law, both will work on a percentage.

Rickard has not made known what he offered them for their bouts, however, as the South American will do anything Rickard asks him.

Willard was on his way to California to lay, where he will join his family after an absence of several months.

He plans to rest a couple of weeks, and then resume training. Firpo will keep right on with his work, and will go through two or three "workouts" bouts, or some soft pickings, that have gathered for him.

The Willard-Firpo bout, which Rickard expects to draw close to a million dollars, will pay the way for the third of the series of star heavyweight contests that Rickard has been working on. The winner will be matched with Dempsey and if Firpo should emerge the winner by a quick knockout, Dempsey will be sent against the South American in Buenos Aires next November. Dempsey and Firpo ought to draw a bigger date than Dempsey and Carpenter gathered in Jersey City.

None of the experts expect Willard to win from Firpo, and if he should, a return bout between the former champion and his conqueror of Toledo would be a great attraction.

After this series, another tremendous drawing card can be arranged by Rickard if he wants to match Dempsey, or the winner of the elimination series with Harry Wills.

Baseball Quiz

Questions:

ONE—If a batted ball first strikes foul, rolls a considerable distance in foul territory, and then settles on fair ground between home and third, is it fair or foul?

TWO—What happens when a base runner is hit by a batted ball?

THREE—If a fielder or catcher blocks a base runner without having the ball in his possession, and then touches the runner out before he can reach the base, what happens?

FOUR—With a runner on first, last man hits a fly to the outfield which falls safe without being touched. The runner on first, fearing it will be caught, plays it safe and is thrown out at second. Does the batsman receive credit for a hit?

FIVE—Can a base runner after over-running first base turn to the left in returning to that base?

Answers:

ONE—It is a fair ball if it finally settles on fair territory between home and third, despite the fact that it first hit foul.

TWO—When a base runner is hit by a batted ball he is out. The batsman is entitled to first base. No other runners can advance unless forced to make room for the batsman.

THREE—The runner is entitled to the base which he was prevented from reaching by the obstruction of the fielder.

FOUR—The batsman does not receive credit for a hit. In no case shall a base hit be scored when a base runner is forced out by the play.

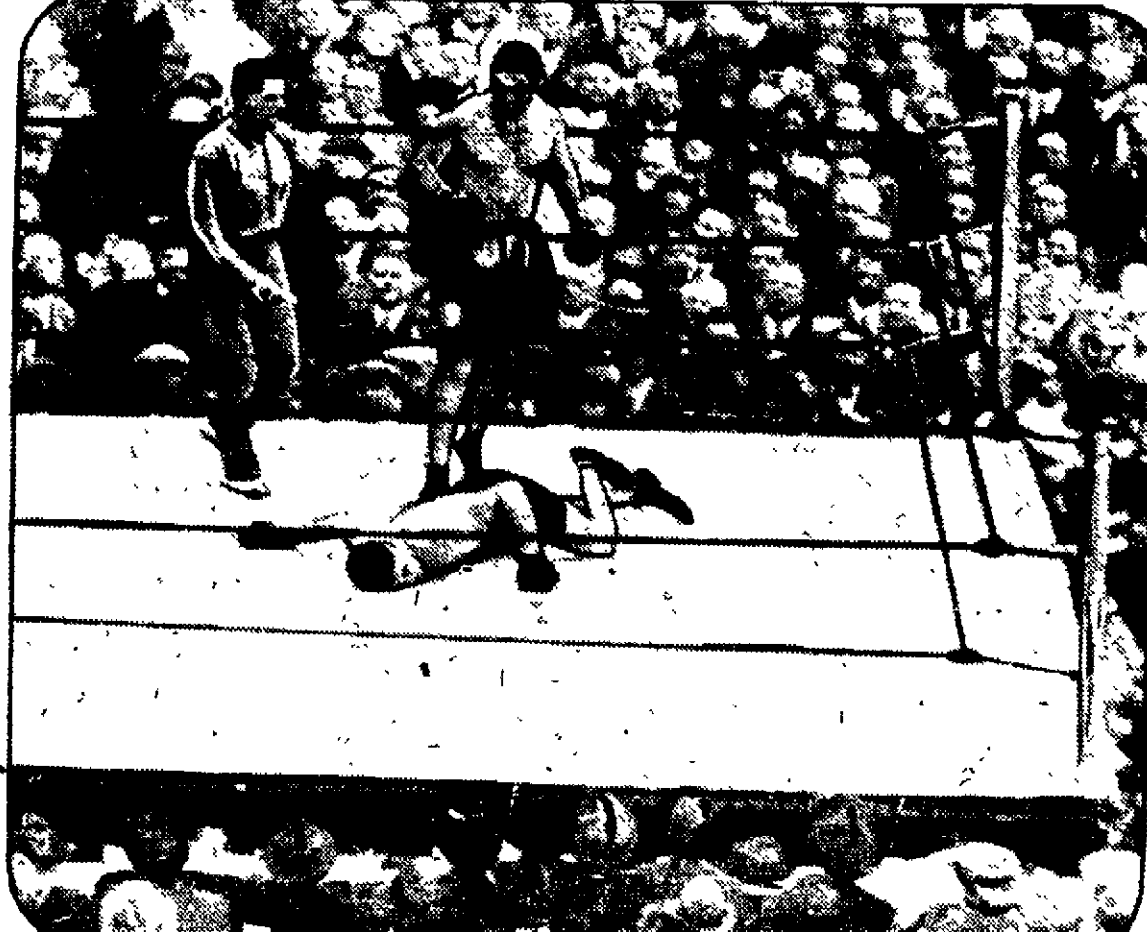

FIVE—A base runner can turn to the right or left without liability to be put out after over-running first base, provided he make no effort to advance toward second.

CALKINS STEPS IN STELLAR ROW

Shoots 247 in Revolver Meet At Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 16.—Dr. R. Calkins, whose exploits with a revolver have won him international fame, turned in a remarkable piece of shooting when he broke a world's individual record by shooting 247 out of a possible 250.

This total has been equaled only once, but Dr. Calkins' score takes precedence as his longest shot was a nine while the previous record contained an eight.

The greatest of credit attaches to the record made by Dr. Calkins when it is considered that during the present winter, the period of colds and grip, both Dr. Calkins and his shooting partner, Dr. W. R. Russell, another time shot, found it necessary to shoot their matches in the middle of the night after periods of sick calls have been completed.

The match in which Dr. Calkins made his record is an instance of this. Doctors Calkins and Russell began shooting in the morning at 1:05 o'clock and ended at 1:29. This shooting, of course, required the presence of the shooting master of the Springfield Bowdoin Club and one other witness. In the match Dr. Russell shot the excellent total of 241.

Dr. Calkins' first bid for fame came in 1903 when as a mere novice he was one of Springfield's four representatives on the international team which won from France.

Since Marquard joined the Dodgers, he has trimmed the Giants a number of times and always seems to derive much satisfaction therefrom.

There are those who argue that McGraw is simply getting his just deserts for consigning Ruth to a place like Brooklyn. Marquard always being partial to the spotlight.

This year Marquard will be joined by two other pitchers in the plot to overthrow the Giants, Rube Benton and Fred Toney, former New York pitchers, complete the trio.

McGraw sent Rube Benton to the minors, when Benton was still some pitcher. Now he comes back to the National League as a member of the Cincinnati Reds. Benton says he is going to convince McGraw what an awful mistake he made in handing him a ticket to the bushes minus the return trip coupon.

Pete Herman Says Gibbons Will Beat Champion Heavy

Dempsey when given the opportunity of a championship fight?

While touring the training camps of the major league clubs in the south Billy Evans had a chat with Pete Herman, prior to his removal to a hospital for a long siege of treatment, that it is hoped will restore his sight.

In discussing the heavyweight situation, the former bantam champion remarked:

"Tommy Gibbons is the best bantam in the ring today. He will beat Dempsey if he ever gets a bout with the champion. I don't think he ever will unless public opinion forces it."

Pete Herman, a great little fighter, certainly thinks Gibbons has a chance.

YU RY Y U B I C U R Y V M The letters shown above, if rearranged, may be translated into a rhyming couplet of sixteen words. Yesterday's answer:

288-069 MARYLAND 1923

The diagram shows the number of the Maryland automobile license seen by the three men. As one man saw the figure 06, followed by another figure, the 06 must have come immediately after the hyphen, as the license number could not have begun with a 0. Another man saw two eights together; hence the two eights must have come just in front of the hyphen, for the number could not have begun with an 8, as $800,000 is too large a number for a Maryland license. The other two figures were 2 and 9. As 9 is too large a figure to begin the license with, the 2 must have been the first figure, and the 9 the last.

KILLS ON FIRST TRIP

MENOMINEE, Mich., May 16.—William Adams, mill worker, bought a new automobile yesterday afternoon and on his first trip down one of the principal streets struck Fabia Saccote, 11, who died an hour later as a result of the accident. The boy was playing along the curb and attempting to run across the street in front of the car. Adams is not blamed for the death.
